VALENTINE HEART WITH MEANING

Gary Jordan and Sheryl Holder added their contribution to the huge valentine fashioned by fifth graders at Coleman School, San Rafael, today. The youngsters in teacher Margaret Schave's class give up buying each other valentines, and instead, pinned money to the heart for donation to the Marin Heart Association's fund drive, which will last all through February.

Gift Of Bolinas Island May Nip Harbor Plans

Supervisors Accept Bird Refuge Property

Kent Island, in the center of Bolinas Lagoon, was presented to Marin County as a wildlife refuge today, and unanimously accepted by the county board of supervisors.

The action will reduce significantly the extent of marina development in the lagoon.

Nature Conservancy, a national conservation organization, was deed the isuand for $90,000 this morning by Mrs. Thomas T. Kent of Kentfield. Huey D. Johnson of Mill Valley, Western director of the Nature Conservancy, then deeded the island over to the county.

Johnson announced a campaign will begin at once to raise $90,000 to repay Nature Conservancy.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen announced the action, and said it was up to the county to accept the gift with the restriction the land would be used for wildlife preservation and associated uses.

He said Dr. Martin Griffin of Kentfield had done much of the work toward arranging the purchase.

Kettenhofen said he wanted a public hearing before the county accepted the property, since it would affect the Bolinas Harbor District's plan for development. However, he backed off from this condition on learning that the island could revert to Nature Conservancy if the county breaks the restrictions on its use.

Acceptance by the county makes the land public and presumably exempt from condemnation by the harbor district for harbor use.

The district's master plan developed by architect Norman T. Gilroy shows extensive development of the island, which would be built up by spoils from dredging and used as the site for restaurants, parks and boat slips.

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer said the gift of the island will have "tremendous impact" on the harbor district plans. Kettenhofen suggested putting off acceptance of the deed until a meeting at 3 p.m. today with district directors on the Gilroy plan, but Supervisor Peter H. Behr said this would be risking filing of a condemnation suit between the 11 a.m. announcement of the gift and the 3 p.m. harbor discussion. The board then accepted the gift.

Supervisors agreed that a less extensive harbor development would still be possible.

Johnson said William S. Picker of Belvedere would serve as the chairman for the fund drive to cover the money put up by the conservancy for the purchase. He also said that Mrs. Kent had charged only half of the market price on the island.

Sukarno Tells Off Newsmen Over Rumors

JAKARTA (UPI)—A bellowing President Sukarno told newsmen to "go to hell with your questions" when they pressed him today about reports he planned to resign and go into exile.

Waving an brass swagger stick, the green-uniformed Sukarno's mood shifted from somberness to impatience to joviality as he met with newsmen for the first time in weeks.

While the stocky Indonesian president displayed flashes of his old impudence, Indonesian congressional leaders opened a three-day session to lay the groundwork for next month's full session to consider firing Sukarno and trying him for treason.

Sukarno twitted Japanese correspondents who had reported he was leaving today for exile in Tokyo.

Sukarno's Japanese-born third wife, Dewi, is expecting their first child in Tokyo later this month.

When asked if he had intentions of visiting his wife in Tokyo, Sukarno replied: "I plan to visit the moon. After all, this is the age of space exploration."

Marin City Wins Revival Of Sheriff's Substation

Marin County supervisors today voted unanimously to establish a sheriff's substation in Marin City as soon as possible, and authorized transfer of $6,409 from reserves to cover the cost until the end of this fiscal year.

The action was taken in response to home owners on Buckelew Street, citing recent burglaries there, and after representatives of Marin City urged action in a lengthy hearing.

Supervisors emphasized that the station, to be housed in a construction site-type trailer, is both to cut down on crime and improve police-community relations.

County Administrator Alan Bruce said the station could be established with dispatchers on duty 24 hours a day by April 1, but Marin City residents said that a rash or burglaries in the last 50 days has brought a problem which must be dealt with immediately.

Supervisors asked establishment as soon as possible.

Edward Moose of California Development Corp., selling homes in Marin City, said the community would "go down the drain" if action were not taken soon.

Magda Gregg of 52 Buckelew Street said her home had been burglarized twice and her insurance had been revoked. "Something must be done," she declared.

Mrs. Tommie Scott of Marin City said the entire community is responsible in solving the problem.

"You walk by kids stripping a car and you do nothing," she said. "These are kids you have known since they were babies."

She turned on Jesse Berry, chairman of the Marin City Community Services District, and asked him if he were involved with the youth of the community.

Supervisor Chairman Thomas T. Storer cut off this line of discussion.

The sheriff's substation has been housed in a small house in Tamalpais Valley since the old Marin City station was burned in 1965.

Bella H. Aaron, chairman of the Human Rights Commission, said it was important for minorities to be on the Sheriff's staff in Marin City, but Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos disagreed, saying that he believed his deputies should not be assigned according to their race. He has three Negroes on his force.

Supervisors supported the sheriff on this point.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr made the motion that the substation be established. He also moved that the sheriff report on the extent of patrol he plans in Marin City by next week. Behr urged that there be one or perhaps two resident deputies in Marin City.

Peking Posters Claim Russians, Chinese In Clashes Along Border

COMBINED AP & UPI

HONG KONG—Soviet broadcasts today reported bloody resistance to Mao Tse-tung's purge in six provinces of Red China. There also were unconfirmed reports of clashes between Russian and Chinese forces along the tense Sino-Soviet frontier.

Radio Moscow, in a Japanese language broadcast heard here, said pro-Mao factions were meeting "stiff" resistance in the provinces of Honan and Hopeh in central China, Kwantung in the South, Heilungkiang in Manchuria, Tibet and Inner Mongolia. Anti-Mao forces reportedly have put Tibet under martial law.

Previous news reports from Red China had told of heavy fighting in these areas, considered strongholds of anti-Mao resistance, and of arrests of high-ranking regional leaders.

Peking wall posters also reported recent clashes along the uneasy 6,000-mile frontier between Russia and China where both nations were believed reinforcing their forces.

The Peking correspondent for the Japanese newspaper Mainichi Shimbun said posters reported Soviet forces "engaged in provocative actions against the Chinese" along the Ussuri river mear Harbin in northeastern China.

But Mainichi said the report was listed among miscellaneous news and its authenticity was questionable.

The posters said a Chinese army company "counter-attacked and repulsed the Russians" when the incident occurred. The wall posters said some Russians were captured but later released by the Chinese "out of generosity."

Radio Moscow also said that a band of fanatical Red Guard youths raided the home of Marshal Chu Teh, the father of the Chinese Communist army, and dragged his wife out of the house for public humiliation.

The fresh reports of widespread resistance to Mao's cultural revolution followed reports yesterday by a Hong Kong newspaper that anti-Mao military commanders in four provinces are secretly organizing united opposition to the aging party chairman.

Wall posters put up by the postal and telegraph workers said that Mao's aggressive third wife, Chiang Ching, has been named chairman of a new committee formed to press Mao's purge in central party and government organizations.

Her new importance was underlined by the fact that Premier Chou En-lai, who might have been expected to head such a committee, has been named to serve on it as Mrs. Mao's adviser.

LBJ Says Bombings Forced By Reds, Door Still Open

COMBINED AP & UPI

WASHINGTON—President Johnson sought today to soften the impact that the end of the pause in U.S. bombing of North Vietnam had on worldwide hopes for peace in Southeast Asia.

Explaining his decision to resume the bombing, the President renewed his pledge to respond promptly to any signal from Hanoi that it seriously wanted to end the fighting.

It was the total absence of any such sign during a six-day lull in American air attacks—including 42 hours beyond the Lunar New Year cease-fire—that caused Johnson to order bombers back to the Communist targets in the North.

Johnson said he had no choice but to order a resumption of attacks. The only response to the pause, he said, was intensified Communist infiltration of South Vietnam.

The Pentagon today made public intelligence reports estimating that the Communists took advantage of the respite in aerial and sea attacks to move southward a normal month's supply of war materials, some 25,000 tons, by truck and hundreds of small boats.

While the renewed bombing dampened peace speculation, South Vietnamese Foreign Minister Tran Van Do said in Saigon he would not be surprised if there might be some discreet discussions already underway between the Communists and the allied side in some third-party capital.

Johnson's statement was noticeably low-keyed, containing no harsh chargs against Hanoi while emphasizing that Ho Chi Minh could initiate peace talks any time he is really ready to negotiate.

Vote Light On Bonds, State Loan

A small turnout of voters appeared likely today, with only 100 votes cast by noon in Lagunitas School District's special election on a $250,000 bond issue and $290,000 state loan request.

With 1,031 voters eligible to cast their ballots, many more are expected to vote after work before the polling place at the school closes at 8 p.m. Their total number, however, is expected to fall far short of the 951 who voted on similar measures last November, when the bond issue and loan missed passage by just a few votes of the necessary two-thirds majority.

The bond money would purchase 11 acres adjacent to the school's present 10 acres and be used to build permanent classrooms to replace seven portable classrooms now costing the district $12,000 a year on a lease-purchase basis.

Survey Shows Romney Winner

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A public opinion survey indicates that Michigan Gov. George Romney would defeat either President Johnson or Sen. Robert F. Kennedy if the presidential election were held now.

The Lou Harris Survey, copyrighted by the Washington Post Co., said yesterday its findings showed Romney would beat Johnson by 53 to 47 per cent and would defeat Kennedy 54 to 46 per cent.

Another poll, however, cast doubt on whether Romney could get the GOP presidential nomination.

Students Ready Third March— But Pro-Tuition

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Students in favor of the charging of tuition at the university and state colleges will march on the Capitol Feb. 22.

It will be the third march of the month on the Capitol. Two were staged last week by students and faculty members opposing Gov. Ronald Reagan's higher education proposals.

Taking part in the pro-tuition march will be students from Sacramento State College, Sacramento City College, and Sierra College.

Dennis Durham, an editorial writer for the student newspaper at Sierra College in Rocklin, said he believed the charging of tuition was "a small factor."

Leaders of the march said they hoped Reagan would make an appearance at their rally.

U.S. Planes Pounding Supply Routes Again

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — The air war returned to full swing today on both sides of the border. U.S. fighter-bombers pounded railways and other supply routes in North Vietnam. Radio Hanoi declared two planes were shot down. U.S. Navy vessels attacked North Vietnamese shipping.

In South Vietnam allied forces reported only light contact with the enemy, but U.S. Air Force and Marine pilots flew a near record 535 sorties in support of sweeping infantrymen yesterday.

U.S. spokesmen also announced that seven men of the U.S. 1st Cavalry Airmobile, Division were killed and four were wounded last night when five rounds of their own artillery landed among them.

The spokesmen also announced that one man of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division was killed Sunday and 14 were wounded when a U.S. plane's bomb went astray during an operation. However, a claymore mine went off in the same area just before the bomb explosion, and the spokesmen said it might have caused some of the casualties.

Poor weather conditions limited the air raids to the panhandle area and hampered damage assessment estimates.

North Vietnam's Vietnam News Agency, announcing the resumption of U.S. air strikes, claimed that the Americans bombed and strafed "many populated areas and economic establishments" in the provinces of Thanh Hoa, Ninh Binh and Nam Ha. It said the town of Phu Ly, in Nam Ha Province, was "savagely raided" but gave no details.

The first Navy action off North Vietnam after the six-day cessation also came before dawn today when the destroyer Cunningham reported it set three cargo craft afire 18 miles north of Dong Hoi.

The Navy said North Vietnamese shore batteries on islands near the city of Vinh opened fire later in the day on the destroyer Strauss. The destroyer suffered no damage, fired back and the batteries ceased fire, the Navy reported.

B-52s flew in from Guam for three strikes last night for three strikes Monday night and today against suspected enemy positions in the south.

LBJ Plans New Housing Policy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson will ask Congress tomorrow for a three-step law aimed at outlawing discrimination in sale or rental of all housing, including private homes, it was learned today.

The bill Johnson will propose will be basically the same as that he originally proposed last year and which, even after being diluted, was killed in the Senate.

The new open housing legislation will call for voluntary compliance in the first year. I the second year, discrimination would be banned in large housing developments and apartments. In the third year, the full impact would be felt, with the ban extended to all housing.

Reagan Remains Firm On Tuition Proposals

SACRAMENTO (AP) —Gov. Ronald Reagan—with telegrams running 800-11 in favor of his stand—will go to a University of California regents meeting unshaken in his demand for higher education tuition, aides reported today.

But a regents source said quiet talks are underway to avoid a headon clash between the Republican governor and regents when the controling board of the nine-campus university meets in Santa Barbara tomorrow, Thursday and Friday. Only the regents can impose tuition.

UNCHANGED

Two days of massive demonstrations at the Capitol haven't changed Reagan's mind about pushing tuition and budget cuts for U.C. or the state colleges, aides said.

Some 10,000 students and teachers, protesting tuition and administration economy moves, booed Reagan when he spoke to them Saturday.

Reagan got a friendlier reception Thursday when he talked to some 3,000 University of California students on the Capitol steps. But the students left voicing opposition to his policies.

Aides who talked to regents last week told them "the governor means what he says."

And they indicated he believes the people are with him in the fight.

TUITION BACKING

Yesterday, his office reported that 800 telegrams were received agreeing with the governor and only 11 criticizing him.

Three students — the editor of the Sacramento State College paper and two coeds—dropped in on Reagan yesterday and told him they favored tuition.

Reagan wants a tuition fee of about $280 a year at U.C. and $150 at the state colleges. University students already pay annual fees of $241 for such services as medical care. State college fees now run from $75 to $135 a year.

His demand for tuition has provoked bitter controversy in the state — as has his request that both the university and state colleges share the economies that he is seeking in the rest of the state government.

A regents source said that the administration has been talking with Theodore Meyer, chairman of the Board of Regents, a dntohers to avoid a "confrontation" at the Santa Barbara meeting. He wouldn't speculate on chances for success.

NO NEGOTIATION

Reagan's office said there had been no negotiations between regents and the administration, but added there has been "a lot of chatting."

Reagan has proposed the university get $23 4million in the fiscal year beginning July 1. Most would come from the General Fund , but part would be provided by tuition fees and use of special regents funds.

If the regents refuse to approve tuition, Reagan would have to make bigger cuts in the U.C. General Fund appropriation to maintain his economy budget.

Reagan has said he will not ask the legislature to approve state college tuition if the university regents refuse to go along with him.

Storms Share Blame For Auto Slump

DETROIT (AP) — Wintry weather has received much of the blame in the latest sales slump and production lag reported by the nation's auto industry.

Industry executives yesterday reported a 20.6 per cent drop in sales for the first 10 days this month and said snowstorms and zero or subzero temperatures that hit large areas of the United States were a major cause.

While fierce weather apparently kept some buyers away from auto showrooms, it also prevented many auto workers from reaching their jobs.

The report of sales losses dovetailed with simultaneous losses or cutbacks in production and the highest inventory of unsold new autos for any Feb. 1 in history. One firm, American Motors Corp., closed its plants yesterday for two weeks to bring its production in balance with sales and inventory.

All the major carmakers — General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors reported drops in sales for the first 10 days of the month as compared to the same February period last year. The difference averaged 20.6 per cent.

So far this year not one 10-day sales period has equaled its counterpart of last year.

Sales for all of January were 17 per cent below those for January 1966.

The manufacturers reported combined sales of 170,78 8for the Feb. 1-10 period this year. For that period last year the total was 215,116.

General Motors, which usually commands more than 50 pr cent of the car market, reported it sold 85,530 passenger cars in the Feb. 1-10 period. A year ago the G.M. sales were 110,863.

Ford sales were 50,441 as against 63,319. Ford Division said its combined sale of cars and trucks — 55,533 — was the third highest in history for the Feb. 1-10 period. Its record of 68,863 was set last year.

Chrysler's Feb. 1-10 sales were 30,272, compared with 34,-728, and American Motors' 4,545 as against 6,206.

On Social Security

There are 12,839 Marin County residents receiving social security checks for a total monthly disbursement of $1,052,112, according to Patrick M. Stevens, manager of the San Rafael district office of the Social Security Administration.

Where Are Defeated Democrats Working?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A good many Democratic congressmen beaten in teh Republican election sweep last November are back on the federal payroll.

Half have landed federal positions, are looking for them, or have been named to high positions in their states.

Former Rep. David S. King of Utah was appointed by President Johnson as U.S. ambassador to the Malagasy Republic off the southeast coast of Africa.

Half a dozen others have become high-level administrators in scattered federal agencies.

Fifty-two Democratic congressmen were defeated in last year's primaries and general elections. So far 17 have federal appointments and jobs, at least five are looking and four are in line for positions in states and the Democratic party.

The other 26 defeated Democrats returned to law practices and other private positions back home, retired or are still in Washington but plan to return home soon.

Twenty-seven of the Democrats who rode into Congress on the Johnson tide in 1964 went right back out on the Republican resurgence last fall. But they generally have fared well.

Nine have federal jobs, four more are looking and three have state positions or are leading conteners for them.

Patronage? A Democratic congressional staff member says it's no such thing.

"We help them make contact when we can," he said, "but they have to rely on their own merit when they go down for the job.

"We're certainly not in a position to say 'yes,' 'no' or 'maybe' on whether they're hired."

It would seem a congressman's voting record on proposals from a hiring agency also might help. But Democratic leaders concede no such influence.

There's little question the November defeats put some experienced men on the job market.

Former Rep. Clair Callan of Nebraska, a House Agriculture Committee member during his one term, has become deputy administrator of the Rural Electrification Administration.

President Johnson named Thomas G. McGrath Jr. of New Jersey as general counsel of the Department of Housing and Urban Development. Kenneth W. Dyal, a former California postmaster, now is regional post worth of Texas, a 24-year House veteran, was appointed by Johnson to a U.S. Customs Court judgeship in New York City.

Flournoy Sees Policy Victory

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—State Controller Houston I. Flournoy says his plan to abolish the jobs of 154 state inheritance tax appraisers should win legislative approval.

The Republican officer holder made his view known yesterday in a news conference before addressing the San Francisco Bar Association.

"I don't think we wlil have too much of a rough time in the Assembly and I have reason to believe that the Senate will go along with long-needed reforms," said Flournoy of t he plan which passed the lower house in 1965 and died in the Senate.

Sheen Plans Deferral Of Confirmation

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—The Most Rev. Fulton J. Sheen, Roman Catholic bishop of Rochester, has announced that children in his diocese would receive the Sacrament of Confirmation at about the time they graduate from high school instead of the traditional age of 9 to 12.

Bishop Sheen told a meeting of 1,300 diocesan elementary school teachers yesterday that the deferral—to be effected over the next five years—would give young people the needed maturity for such a step.

The teachers responded with prolonged applause.

"Bishops now are being asked to confirm 11-year-old tots who haven't yet reached the age of puberty," he said. "We have forgotten there are three ages of youth—birth, puberty and maturity."

Bishop Sheen said he would ask educators to develop a confirmation course for more mature students.

The Most Rev. Timothy Manning, auxiliary bishop of the Archdiocese of Los Angeles, said, "there are reasons for continuing the current policy and for the later age."

Bishop Manning said he knew of no objections to Bishop Sheen's plan. He said he believed it would not start a trend and that most dioceses would stay with the age of about 12.

AIR FORCE FLAP

General's Removal Laid To Governor

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Air Force Reserve colonel says former Arizona Gov. Samuel P. Goddard Jr. was a central figure in a stormy military seminar that led to a top general's reassignment.

Col. Michael J. Jackson said Goddard argued more than 45 minutes with Maj. Gen. Jerry D. Page, then commandant of the Air War College, after Page spoke critically of Pentagon policies and conduct of the Vietnam war.

They were at a closed seminar last December for a group of reserve officers at the Air Force's Air War College at Montgomery, Ala.

A few days after addressing the group the two-star general was suddenly removed as commandant of the service school and ordered to head a combat outfit in Okinawa.

Goddard previously denied participating in any hassle. He could not be reached immediately for comment on the remarks by Jackson, who also attended the seminar.

"I never mix Air Force with politics," Goddard had said.

But Jackson, in a letter to The Associated Press, said this was "contrary to the facts as witnessed by me, 47 other Air Force Reserve colonels and certain members of the Air War College faculty."

Jackson urged a Pentagon investigation "of this entire affair," saying the incident "invites complete destruction of the policies of academic freedom and nonattribution practiced in our military schools."

Copies of the letter went to Sens. Harrison A. Williams, D-N.J., Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., and Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, along with former Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, a reserve major general.

Contacted by telephone at his office in a New York publishing firm, Jackson said he could not discuss specific items which arose during the seminar because of the ground rules which are established for such sessions.

But he said Goddard arose after Page had discussed administration policies and "gave the impression of trying to impose a political gag on the way the Air Force conducts its war college."

According to Jackson's account, Goddard introduced himself as Arizona's governor and "commander-in-chief" of the state's army, air force and navy, and mentioned his acquaintance with the Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Secretary of State Dean Dusk.

Then Goddard took issue with Page's policy remarks in a debate that lasted for the duration of the session and continued afterwards, Jackson said.

There have been rumors someone reported Page's anti-administration remarks to the Pentagon. Goddard says he didn't. In any event, Page got his transfer orders a few days after the seminar.

The Air Force has described the transfer as an internal move ordered by Gen. John P. McConnell, chief of staff, "on his own volition" without instructions from McNamara.

One Pentagon source suggested that McConnell had been displeased in the past by Page's tendency to make personal observations that might be interpreted as Air Force doctrine.

Congressional sources said the controversy may jeopardize Goddard's pending promotion to brigadier general. His nomination is now before the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Last year Sen. Smith held up Goddard's promotion on grounds he had not met all qualifications.

Goldwater backed Goddard's nomination that time but has now written Sen. Smith his opposition as a result of the Page controversy.

Jackson also has wired Sen. Smith of his opposition. In the interview Jackson said he "takes a dim view of an individual getting personal gain out of this."

Jackson said he also is concerned the Page incident will limit "free thinking" and result in active officers' distrust of reservists at future seminars.

In his letter, Jackson said the incident has completely compromised "not only the Air Force Reserve officers attending that particular session but succeeding classes of reserve officers."

Police Seeking Plunge Clues

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Police searched for evidence today that a young Mexican stowaway, huddling inside the wheel well of an airliner, fell to his death from 5,000 feet.

The crushed body of Humberto Garcia Gutierrez, about 17, of Chihuahua, Mexico was found yesterday on an empty school playground.

Investigators said the youth apparently stowed away before the airliner left Mexico City and fell when the wheels were lowered for landing at Los Angeles International Airport. The task of checking for evidence became more difficult as airliners departed later in the day.

Police said Gutierrez may have died from lack of oxygen or the cold prior to the plunge since the wheel wells are not pressurized or heated.

Professor Outlines Plans For Savings-Loan Survey

HONOLULU (AP)—Dr. Irwin Friend, director of academic study of the nation's $134 billion savings and loan industry, said one aim will be to determine whether the associations should include additional functions.

Friend, professor of economics at the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School of Finance, outlined the scope of the $500,000 study today in a speech prepared for delivery at the annual management conference of the California Savings and Loan League.

PRESENT ROLE

He said the report also will analyze the current functions of the industry — thrift and home financing.

"The basic objective of the study is to analyze the appropriate role of the savings and loan industry in the economy and how this role can best be schieved," Friend said.

REPORT TO CONGRESS

The study was commissioned by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board and approved by Congress last year. Findings of the study group, composed of leading business and economic professors from universities throughout the nation, are to be turned over to Congress by December next year.

Dr. Friend said that major interests of the study will include answers to questions such as "the sensitivity of deposits and mortgages to changes in interest rates paid or charged by savings and loan associations and competing institutions, promoting practices and other relavent variables."

He added that the study will include a detailed analysis of the recent tight money period and the housing market, branches, holding companies and supervisory authorities.

"We will consider if savings and loans should remain a specialized type of institution or become a 'department store' type of financial institution." He said the study would include whether the industry should be allowed to expand its activity to take in consumer lending.

Although associations in a few states are permitted to make consumer loans, California associations do not have this power.

Conservationists Will Hear Zucker

Paul C. Zucker, Marin County planning director, will speak on "Keeping Marin Marvelous" at 8 p.m. tomorrow before a meeting of the Conservation Council of Marin at the Marin Rod and Gun Club, San Quentin.

The club also will hear Pierre W. Joske, director of county parks and recreation, report on the status of state funds for park acquisition in Marin.

Do any of these little things bother you about your bank?

STEP UP
41210-0008 0609 13368

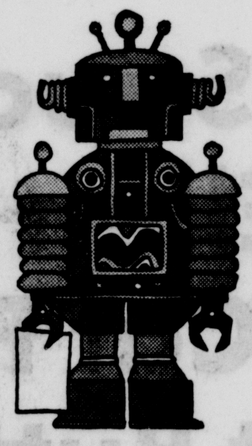
1. They treat you like a number. (In our book, customers deserve every respect. There are plenty of banks around. And if you decide to give us your business, the least we can do is show our appreciation. And respect. One little way we try to do this is by calling you by name.)

2. Nobody seems very interested in your problems. (Because we are interested in your problems, we show interest, besides just paying it.)

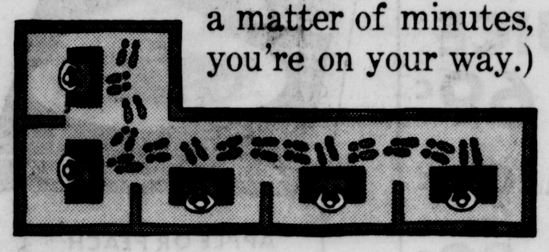
3. Tellers aren't always around when you need them most. (We can't imagine a duller way to spend a lunch hour than to spend it in a bank. We try to schedule our tellers' lunch hours so more of them are around when you need them.)

OUT TO LUNCH

4. Tellers aren't always as human as you'd like them to be. (Ourselves, we make a real effort to hire nice, helpful people.)



5. If you ever forget your checkbook, they give you the run-around. (We give you a chair instead, while we make up some checks with your own number for you. And in a matter of minutes, you're on your way.)



6. They take their time in the loan department. (On personal loans you often get the money on the same day. We work fast because we know you wouldn't be asking for a loan unless you needed some money fast.)

7. They don't like to admit that they've made a mistake on your record. (It is a point of pride with us that we're known for being unusually accurate in our records. But if we do make a mistake, we aren't too proud to admit it. We take full blame. Give you an apology. And set things straight.)

8. You have to go through a lot of red tape to cash a check at another branch. (To cash a check at any of our offices throughout California all you do is show the teller your Crocker-Citizens Convenience Card. This card is issued on request to qualified depositors and it means you're welcome to cash checks up to a prescribed amount at whatever office is most convenient for you.)

If you'd like a bank that pays as much attention to you as to your money, now you know where to come.

REACHES FOR WATER TO FIGHT HOUSE FIRE

An old Vietnamese woman reaches into a large jar to draw water in an attempt to fight flames consuming her home in a village 20 miles southwest of Da Nang. The thatched-roof house caught fire as sparks from another building were blown onto it during a U.S. Marine operation last week outside the village. (AP Wirephoto)

PEACE

bombs and shells of warplanes and warships—stressed that the United States is not so eager for peace talks that it will throw away a trump card, the bombing, in exchange for virtually nothing—a vague suggestion that Hanoi might be willing to talk when attacks are halted.

Some diplomats have said North Vietnam's reluctance to talk peace is partly due to violent anti-Western attitude of Red China, its chief war supplier.

This view was strengthened by a new, bellicose statement today by Peking's defense minister, Lin Piao, renewing Communist China's pledge of full support to the Vietnamese Communists.

The Vatican newspaper Observatore Romano said the North Vietnamese President's response to a peace plea by the Pope "unfortunately contains no new elements" to enhance the prospects of peace. But the newspaper said the pontiff would continue his "patient, untiring, confident" efforts to end the war.

Reaction from world capitals over resumption of bombing was fairly predictable. But even critics of U.S. policy criticized, directly or indirectly, Hanoi's lack of response to the lull.

From London, Prime Minister Harold Wilson reported today the existence of an initiative — a plan — which he said "could bring peace tomorrow" to Vietnam.

He told the House of Commons only a very small move was needed to set into motion "all the very complicated machinery that could bring us to peace."

The prime minister, answering questions in the House of Commons on his talks with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, gave no details of this initiative tr plan.

Wilson said there were moments during his talks with Kosygin last week when peace negotiations "could have been very near." But he said these two elements were lacking:

"A general realization that sooner or later there must be a political settlement, and secondly, the necessary degree of trust and confidence on the part of each of the nations fighting in this war about the sincerity of the desire of the other to work for a negotiated political settlement."

Felon's Pistol Trial To Begin

Two-day jury trial for Lewis Lynn Holt, 33, charged with possession of a pistol by a convicted felon, today was scheduled in Marin Superior Court master to start at 10 a.m. tomorrow before Judge Harold J. Haley.

Holt, of Lawndale, Los Angeles County, was arrested Dec. 7 by San Rafael police after a woman reported seeing him walking along Lootens Place, loading the pistol.

Boy Not Hurt In Accident

Friday's Independent-Journal reported incorrectly that 6-year-old Clifford Collins was injured when he was hit by a car driven by William H. Nelson of 100 Harbor Drive, Corte Madera.

The San Anselmo police report on the accident, which occurred Thursday, noted that the boy appeared to be in "a minor state of shock" at the scene but "was later found to be ok." He was examined both at Marin General Hospital and by a private physician.

The report notes that "the accident was caused by the victim darting between moving traffic."

Economic Office Closes May 1

Marin County supervisors voted 4-1 today for a May 1 termination date on the county office of economic development.

The decision on the date was referred last Tuesday when the board voted 3-2 to abolish the post held by John M. Douglas. Supervisors Peter H. Behr and Ernest N. Kettenhofen dissented then.

Kettenhofen was the only dissenter today, saying that the May 1 termination would not give enough time for Douglas to help with the budget on economic development (grants to chambers of commerce and such) for next fiscal year.

Special Meeting On Bonds Reset

Mill Valley City Council's special meeting this morning to adopt an ordinance calling for a $500,000 sewer bond election April 18 was postponed to tomorrow because only three councilmen showed up today.

Adoption of the ordinance requires four votes. Mayor Albert E. White and councilman Michael Wornum were sbsent.

Reagan Gets Hundreds Of Supporting Wires

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan has redeived 602 telegrams supporting his college tuition stand and only 11 against it since Saturday when he was booed by 7,500 student and faculty protesters.

Paul Beck, Reagan's assistant press secretary, announced the count of telegrams today. He said letters received since the noisy tuition protest demonstration have not yet been counted.

Incorrect Report

The Independent-Journal incorrectly reported yesterday that a car driven by Darwin E. Danley, 208 Amicita Avenue, Mill Valley, was hit from the rear Sunday by one driven by Mary Virginia Stojkovich of Danville. The Danley vehicle struck the one driven by Miss Stojkovich near Forrest Street on East Blithedale Avenue. Police issued no citation.

Santa Rosan Is Arraigned On Burglary

Gerald D. Flowers, 23, of Santa Rosa, was arraigned today in Marin Superior Court on return of a bench warrant for his arrest issued last Aug. 30.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson set new bail at $10,000 and scheduled plea entry for Flowers to three counts of burglary for 9:30 p.m. next Monday.

Flowers, arrested Friday by Santa Rosa police, failed to appear for trial proceedings here Sept. 12. He and Richard Warren Becker Jr., 20, were accused of the Feb. 16, 1966, burglary of the Brant Club on Limantour Bay near Inverness. Becker pleaded guilty to second degree burglary and was sentenced to 60 days in county jail and placed on two years probation.

Flowers also is accused of burglary Feb. 16, 1966, of a building occupied by Louis G. Batch on Limantour Bay, and of the Feb. 10, 1966, burglary of a building occupied by Edwin I. Powers.

He remained in county jail today in lieu of the new bail.

Six Abandoned Autos Impounded

San Rafael police moved into the streets with tow trucks yesterday, impounding six abandoned autos.

Chief Charles J. Chiesa said the action renewed efforts to strictly enforce the law against vehicles parked more than 72 hours on public thoroughfares.

Cars were towed from Ross and Marin Streets, in front of 2 Brookdale Avenue, in front of 33 Woodland Avenue, 607 D Street, and from in front of 508 Irwin Street.

Trunk Lines Billings Agreed

Homestead Valley Sanitary District directors informally agreed last night to a proposal by Mill Valley City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer that the city bill their district on the basis of actual use of trunk lines instead of the present system of billing on the basis of assessed valuation.

In a meeting with Balmer and city councilmen Rodric L. Robinson and George E. Wickham, district chairman Warren J. Jacobs and director Gustaf F. Wolf agreed to have the change adopted. The district is one of four using the city's sewage treatment plan.

Balmer said meetings will be held with other districts to discuss the proposed change in billing.

Homestead district directors and city representatives also agreed to work together toward formation of a Southern Marin Sanitary District, with a sewage treatment plant on the ocean end of Tennessee Valley.

Girl Is Rescued From Overpass

A 16-year-old girl was removed from the guard rail of the Marinwood overpass of Highway 101 by a California Highway Patrol officer early Sunday after a passing motorist reported her precarious position.

Officer Ronald G. Wilson snatched Mary Ellen James, 16, of Stanford from the rail at 1:50 a.m. She was taken to Marin General Hospital for psychiatric examination, then released to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. James of Stanford.

Kitchen Equipment Bid Date Is Set

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Bids will be opened by the Department of General Services March 7 on construction of an addition to the kitchen and dining building at San Quentin Prison.

Cost of the work at the Marin County institution is estimated at $340,000.

OBITUARIES

Angelita Sherer Dies At 81

Angelita Sherer, active for many years in Marin County social circles and the last remaining member of a prominent San Rafael family, died yesterday at her San Francisco home. She was 81.

Funeral was scheduled today at St. Luke's Episcopal Church in San Francisco.

The death of Mrs. Sherer broke a link with the San Rafael of the turn of the century and with what was once one of the city's major educational institutions for byos, the Hitchcock Military Academy.

Her former husband, the late Rex Sherer, took over presidency of the school from Dr. Charles Hitchcock in 1910. He had been a faculty member since 1898.

She and her husband ran the academy — one of the oldest schools of its type in the state — until 1925 when it was sold. It became the Tamalpais School for Boys and eventually was taken over by the Marist Fathers, who operate St. Peter Chanel Seminary on the property at Grand and Belle avenues.

Mrs. Sherer was born in San Rafael, the oldest of four children, and attended a private grammar school run by the Stuart sisters at what is now the site of San Rafael's new city hall. She later graduated from Dominican College.

During the time she and her husband were associated with the military academy, she took an active interest in the lives of the students.

In 1925, the couple were divorced and Mrs. Sherer went to live in San Francisco, although maintaining continued interest in the social life of Marin. She traveled widely in later years.

She was a director of Sunnyhills, San Anselmo, from the early 1920s, and was a honorary vice president for the past 10 years.

For 30 years she was an active worker with the Girl Scouts of America, principally through the San Francisco Bay Council, which covers Marin. She was connected also with church and Republican party affairs throughout the Bay Area. She was a member of the Town and Country Club, the Thursday Musical Club and the San Rafael Improvement Club.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Louise Sherer Green of San Francisco.

The family prefers memorial contributions to the San Francisco Bay Council of Girl Scouts.

GEORGE A. CLARKE

MERCED (AP) — George A. Clarke, 93, a veteran of 22 years in the state Assembly, died yesterday in a Merced hospital.

Clarke, a Republican, was born in Bishop and served single terms in 1912 and 1922 in the old 47th District before moving to Merced County. He represented the old 31st District from 1938 until his retirement in 1956.

Clarke served as chairman of the Assembly Agriculture Committee and was a member of numerous other committees in the lower house.

MRS. PALMER

Mrs. Bennie Palmer, 62, of 523 D Street, San Rafael, died last night at a local hospital following a long illness.

Mrs. Palmer, widow of George F. Palmer, for 18 years a mechanic at the Presidio of San Francisco, is survived by nine sons, three daughters and 30 grandchildren. She was a resident of Marin County for 23 years.

The sons and daughters include Mrs. Dave Jordan, Fred S., Bill, Bob, Clifford E., Tommy, Dale and Darrell Palmer, and Mrs. Jack Miller, all of San Rafael; David Palmer of Tiburon; Mrs. Betty Korman of Benecia, and Doyle Palmer of Sonoma.

The loss of her mother was the second tragedy this month for Mrs. Korman of Benecia. Her husband, Gene, a merchant seaman, died at sea as his ship was returning from Vietnam on Feb. 4. His funeral is to be held in Benecia on Friday.

Mrs. Palmer was born in Pauls Valley, Okla., March 20, 1904.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael.

Miskimen Announces He'll Run For Council

Planning Commissioner John A. Miskimen today announced his candidacy for the San Rafael City Council.

Terms of Councilmen Charles W. Aby and Fred E. Jensen expire with the April 10 election. Jensen has taken out papers for verification deputies to seek remanager of San Rafael Sales, a used car business, also has taken out papers. Aby reportedly may not seek another term.

Miskimen had not yet taken out papers from the city clerk's office today, but launched his candidacy with an announcement setting forth some of his goals.

San Rafael, he said, "holds promise of being a dominant city in the great megalopolis that is forming, slowly but with utter certainty, within the bounds of the San Francisco Bay Area.

"Within this regional entity . . . San Rafael must maintain its identity as a soundly planned city with a future of its own. It can do this only by having a heads-up government, alert alike to peril and opportunity. . . .

"Marin County also has its own ideals and programs, quite separate and sometimes apart from those that now engross, or will engross, the Bay Area as a whole.

"This local interest, this right to regional and municipal indeviduality must be protected and bargained for at all costs. San Rafael is the leader. It is fair to say that, as San Rafael goes, so goes Marin County."

Miskimen said, "I am not pretending that I have the right answer to everything — or any answer, for that matter. I do believe that my experience in San Rafael government, my background and my feeling of resolution all help qualify me for the office of city councilman."

Miskimen has served on the city planning commission since August, 1964, when he was appointed to fill out the term of Orlando Conti, who resigned. He was appointed to a new four-year term last June.

The 35-year-old planning commissioner is employed by the investment firm of Mitchum, Jones and Templeton in San Francisco. He is a graduate of Harvard College and has taken post-graduate courses in business administration at Golden Gate College.

He and his wife and three children reside at 4 Anchorage Court.

Powell's Wife Will Appear

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell's wife has agreed to testify Thursday before the select House committee investigating Powell's qualifiations to be seated, a committee spokesman says.

If she appears, it would be a reversal of Y. Marjorie Flores Powell's refusal to appear before another committee which probed her husband's activities late last year and ordered her fired from a $20,500 job on Powell's committee.

The current committee had hoped to conclude public hearings today but scheduled another session Thursday to accommodate Powell's estranged wife.

SUBSCRIPTIONS CANCELED

12-Year-Old's Napalm Poem Embarrassing To Pentagon

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Presbyterian Board of Christian Education said today the Defense Department has canceled 13,000 subscriptions to its Sunday school magazine because of a poem on napalm in the February issue by a 12-year-old girl.

The defense department described the poem as "an embarrassing item concerning Vietnam,' " the board said.

The item is used in Protestant Sunday schools of American military bases around the world and is aimed at the group 9 to 12 years old.

Cancellation of the 13,000 military subscriptions, the board said, was recommended by the religious education advisory group of the armed forces chaplains board.

Published here by the Presbyterian board, the magazine, "Venture," has a circulation of 130,000, a board spokesman said. Thus it has lost 10 per cent of its readership.

The poem in question was signed by "Pitt Beidler. The girl's mother, Mrs. E. J. Beidler told the Philadelphia Bulletin in a telephone interview that her daughter's name is Barbara, and that "Pitt" is a pen name. The mother said the girl frequently submits verses and other works to magazines.

The poem is entitled, "After thoughts on Napalm Drop on Jungle Villages near Haiphong.

It reads in part:

"Then there was the flash — silver and gold
Silver and gold.
Silver birds flying.
The rice ponds blazed . . .
The jungle burst into gold and sent up little birds of fire.
Little animals with fur aflame.
Then the children flamed.
Running — their clothes flying like fiery kites.
Screaming — their screams
Dying as their faces seared
The women's baskets burned on their heads.
The men's boats blazed on the rice waters.
Then the rains came.
A rag, fire black, fluttered.
A curl of smoke rose from a rice stem.
The forest lay singed and seared.
A hut crumbled.
And all was still.
Listen Americans,
Listen clear and long.
The children are screaming screaming
In the jungles of Haiphong."

Barbara's father is a director of Indian River County Mosquito control in Vero Beach, and is an elder of the Vero Beach Presbyterian church.

Mott To Head Parks System

SACRAMENTO (AP) — William Penn Mott Jr., general manager of the East Bay Regional Park District in Oakland, was named today by Gov. Ronald Reagan to head the State Parks and Recreation Department.

Mott, 57, is a Republican. He will replace Parks Director Fred L. Jones, appointed by former Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

Mott is a landscape architect who served on national and international assignments. His new job pays $22,500 a year.

A resident of Orinda, Mott formerly was superintendent of parks in Oakland. He spent seven years with the National Park Service.

$16,500 For Improvements At Mill Valley Parks Asked

Park improvements totaling $16,500 were asked for fiscal 1968 last night by Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission, reported parks and recreation director Don Dimitros.

Commissioners adopted the following priority list of improvements: store room at community and youth center, $2,000; replace louvre windows at center, $1,500; drainage at Freeman Park,$2,000; new rest room at Boyle Park, $5,000; blacktop parking area in Boyle Park, $2,000; restore rest room and complete landscaping in Sycamore Park, $2,500, and construct concrete border around play area and landscape banks at Molino Park, $1,500.

Commissioners took no action on a proposal by Marin Municipal Water District to donate an abandoned six-acre water tank site on Edgewood Avenue to the city as a park. Additional information on the cost of converting the site into a park is necessary, commissioners said, agreeing to inspect the site later this week.

Jerome C. Hauke was re-elected chairman and Mrs. John R. Bernard was re-elected vice chairman.

Repair of dugouts, back stops and fences at Boyle Park's two baseball diamonds has been completed by city crews, reported Dimitratos. Painting will begin within a week, he said.

Withholding Of JFK Book Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Joe Pool, D-Tex., has demanded that the United States Information Agency withhold from overseas circulation the controversial book, "The Death of a President."

In a letter yesterday to USIA Director Leonard Marks, Pool said the book "reflects the distorted point of view of an author who has been proven inaccurate and irresponsible as an historian."

Pool also took special exception to mention of Dallas in author William Manchester's book, calling the volume "a dastardly attempt to damn an entire city for the action of a single man, who was not even a citizen of Dallas."

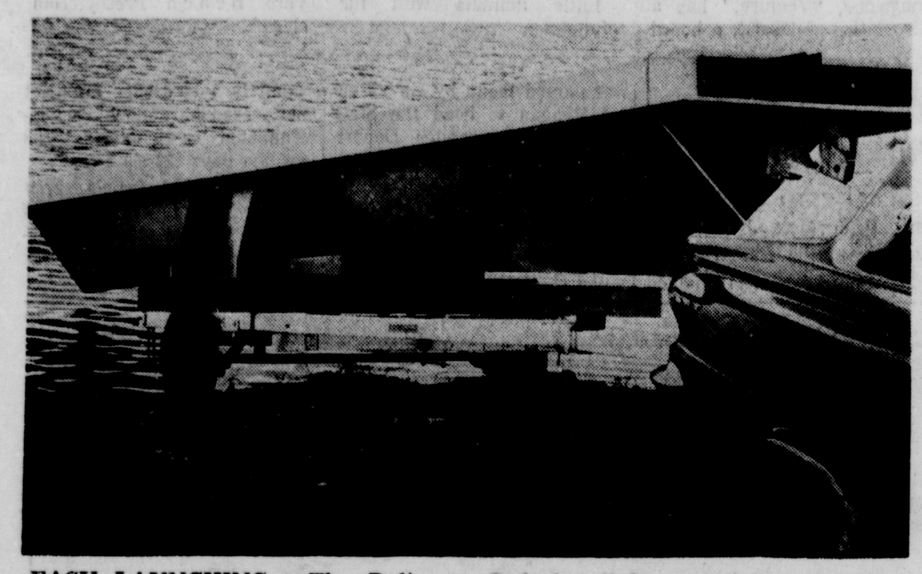
FLOATING DOCK — The Rolin-Tee boat dock, manufactured in San Rafael, is shown in a cross-shape, one of the variations possible with the units, which include storage space in the pontoons.



EASY LAUNCHING — The Rolin-Tee boat dock, manufactured in San Rafael, a light, one-piece unit, contains no welds, rivets or joints, and is shown ready to be launched.

Factory In San Rafael Makes Flotations System

A new wrinkle, or more precisely unwrinkle, in flotation systems has been devised by a new San Rafael manufacturer, Rolin Tee Co.

In its factory at 118 Mill Street, the firm is manufacturing docks and floats by utilizing a new technique in the bending of metal, which eliminates all welds, rivets and joints.

The technique was developed by Etienne D. Rolin of 961 Butterfield Road, who established the company in San Rafael last year.

Rolin conceived the Rolin-Tee design as a roof truss to provide long spans without center bracing.

The unit offers flotation with "amazing torsion stiffness, high freeboard and shallow draft at a price far below that of conventional units, he says, and is easy to deliver to a launching site.

The lack of seams in the pontoon structure provides low annual maintenance costs and long life, he said. Seams are a usual source of trouble, he explained.

The deck is constructed of non-skid plastic impregnated plywood and there is storage space inside for pontoons for "the many odds and ends associated with boating."

Samples of the units have been displayed at the San Francisco Cow Palace and have received favorable comment, Rolin said.

School Laws Sought By Rafferty

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Modification of California's controversial school unification law, protection of teachers from assault and a major school finance program were recommended to the legislature today by State School Supt. Max Rafferty.

The superintendent scheduled a news conference to release his proposals to the legislature. The program was similar to Rafferty's recommendations for then Gov-elect Ronald Reagan last fall.

Legislators and Reagan also have proposed eliminating strict provisions for the current school unification law, which requires a school district to hold an election every two years until unification is approved.

Rafferty's legislative program was headed by a proposal "to increase the penalties for assaults on teachers."

He also proposed eliminating statewide selection of elementary school textbooks, letting the local districts make their choices.

One new item in Rafferty's legislative proposals was a competency test for teacher applicants from other states.

"Data in the possession of the State Department of Education indicates a need for a test of basic literacy to be passed by all out-of-state applicants for initial teaching credentials in California," Rafferty said.

Student Group Said Subsidized By CIA

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials of the National Student Association say the organization has been subsidized since the early 1950s by the Central Intelligence Agency, the Washington Post reported today.

The Post quoted W. Eugene Groves, president of the NSA, as saying that no officers or employees of NASA "to our knowledge" had carried out intelligence functions for the CIA.

In the same edition, the Post carried a full-page advertisement by Ramparts magazine saying that in its March issue, Ramparts "will document how the CIA has infiltrated and subverted the world of American student leaders ... (and) has interfered, in a most shocking manner, in the internal working of the nation's oldest and largest student organization."

The Post quoted "independent sources" as saying the CIA subsidy to the student organization was started at a time when Communist governments were sponsoring youth congresses and the CIA felt a need to have the American student position represented at such gatherings.

The CIA had no immediate comment, said the Post.

The Post quoted Groves as saying he met last month with Douglass Cater, a special assistant to President Johnson, to explain the link between the NSA and the intelligence agency. Groves said Cater had no previous knowledge of CIA ties to the student group.

Groves told the Post that in 1965 NSA was provided with a rent-free headquarters in Washington and was given $20,000 to furnish the handsome town house.

The newspaper continued: "He (Groves) said the mortgage on the building is held by the First National Bank of Washington on behalf of NSA and the Independence Foundation of Boston, which makes all of the payments.

The newspaper also quotes Groves as saying the student group has been striving for two years to break its "covert relationship" with the CIA and that no agency funds were being accepted for its current $825,000 annual budget.

The Ramparts advertisement said its article will show that the CIA "used students to spy."

MGM Planning Giant Studio

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Preliminary plans for a $30-million studio for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Inc., have been filed.

The elaborate motion picture complex will be built in the Conejo Valley, north of Los Angeles in neighboring Ventura County, MGM officials said.

MGM filed the design in conjunction with its application to have the 1,500 acre site rezoned, company spokesman said yesterday.

The facility would include administrative offices, 14 sound stages, laboratories, a commissary, theater and crafts building.

The move would mark the first time a major motion picture production firm in the United States has built a "completely new facility designed in terms of function and efficiency," the company said.

The Super Writer:
We put one together to show you how we made our Scotch.

We're always happy to turn a phrase for 100 Pipers. But the real message is in the bottle. Our famous combination of Scotland's prize whiskies speaks for itself, and those it talks to are spreading the word. A lot of people who used to order Scotch in spite of the taste are calling for 100 Pipers because of the taste.

We're not surprised. We worked for 20 years to achieve a clearly modern Scotch that flows out of a great old tradition. And it may well start a great new one. But we don't ask you to swallow our adjectives.

Just drink our Scotch.

Murphy Denies Any Conflict

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —U.S. Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., has denied Republican leaders are upset over his handling of the GOP Senate campaign committee.

Murphy replied to a newspaper story which asserted that Senate Minority Leader Everett Dirksen and Sen. Thurston Morton were displeased with his plans to expand the committee. The story also releated fears by liberal Republicans that they would not receive as much campaign money as conservatives.

The story "has no basis in fact", Murphy said during an impromptu news conference Monday. "There will be no favoritism whatsoever. Everybody will get the same treatment."

Unidentified Span Leaper's Body Sought

An unidentified man took a cab to the Golden Gate Bridge Saturday and apparently jumped to his death in the Bay waters, according to a report today by the California Highway Patrol.

At 10:02 a.m., Patrol Officer Stephen E. Ellis began investigating a report from a witness at Vista Point, Arnold Brooks of San Francisco, that he saw a man go over the east rail near south tower. Brooks described the man as wearing dark clothing and said he looked Oriental.

Toll taker Daniel G. Rossellini told the officer he remembered a cab stopping at the toll gates about 9:45 a.m. and a man answering Brooks description of the jumper got out and walked north onto the bridge.

The Fort Point Coast Guard station was notified and a search was made but no body was recovered.

Raquel Welch's Marriage Turns Into Swinging Bash

PARIS (UPI)—American movie siren Raquel Welch was married today in a St. Valentine's day wedding that had all the dignity and romance of a college football game.

The 28-year-old star, married and divorced once before was wed to her manager and career-launcher, Patrick Curtis, 31, in a civil ceremony.

The ceremony was delayed 20 minutes in a battle between officials, photographers and police as to whether pictures would be allowed during the ceremony.

They were finally forbidden but bemused Mayor Maurice Benoit at one stage told gate crashing photographers "This is a solemn marriage. It is neither a fair, nor a fashion show."

Miss Welch made it something of a fashion show however, in a "see-through" knitted lace minidress with her hair tumbling halfway down her back.

Miss Welch and Curtis planned no honeymoon. They were flying back to London tonight and were due in Hollywood towards the end of next month to start a new movie.

The curvey 28-year old divorcee and mother of two has just completed work on two films, "The Oldest Profession in the World" in Berlin and "A Girl Called Fathom" in London.

Curtis, 31, is from Los Angeles.

Resignation On Rec Board Agenda

In the meeting at 8 p.m. at Community Hall, commissioners will also talk about the summer youth program.

Education Trustee Files For Election

Incumbent Lee C. Richardson Jr. filed today for election to the Marin County Board of Education.

Richardson, who lives on Madrone Road in Inverness, was appointed June 7, 1965, to fill out the term of trustee Ben Roark Jr., who resigned. The four-year term expires this year.

Appointments Available For Storm Damage Loans

Marin residents, seeking loans to cover last month's storm damage, may make appointments with Small Business Administration representatives who will open a temporary office Thursday in San Rafael City Hall.

The office to handle loan applications will be in the city recreation director's quarters in the city hall and will be open Thursday and Friday from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Rosalie Wise, in charge of appointments, today requested applicants to phone her at the city hall in order to insure an orderly scheduling of interviews.

Homeowners and businessmen suffering storm damage can get 20-year, 3 per cent loans from the government. In some cases, homeowners will be required to show inability to get loans from local lending institutions.

As leary of personal publicity as when she was the nation's first lady, she declined yesterday to have her picture taken.

Vigorous and alert, she continues her quiet social life and is usually the chauffeur when she and Former President Harry S Truman go out for brief afternoon drives.

Reading Clinic Tells Fairfax Site Hopes

De Witt Reading Clinic of San Rafael hopes to establish an academic research center at the Marin Town and Country Club site in Fairfax.

The center would include an experimental school, laboratories, and a teacher training college, according to Mrs. M. H. DeWitt, clinic director.

She told the Fairfax City Council last night that the center, named DeWitt Research Center for Academic Development, would be operated by a non-profit corporation.

The plan is to acquire the property, either by purchase or long-lease, renovate the existing buildings, and open the first class next fall, Mrs. De Witt said.

There would be research into the causes of academic failure and separate laboratories for various disabilities, such as hearing, vision, psychological, muscular and neurological, she explained.

There also would be teaching training college with teachers working in the experimental school and laboratories. "We would hope to have a full college with residences for students," she said. The DeWitt Reading Clinic in San Rafael is privately owned, has more than 30 employees and an enrollment of 175, from kindergarten pupils to non-reading adults, she reported.

After several months of negotiations, the council approved a 10-year agreement with the Fairfax School District for construction of city tennis courts on school district property at School Street and Park Road.

The Fairfax City Council also:

ANIMAL CONTROL—Postponed action until March 13 on a proposed amendment to the animal control ordinance that would increase quarantine fee from 50 cents to $1.75 a day and the penalty for license delinquency from $1 to $3.

SIGN REQUEST—Took no action on a request from Lewis B. Grisselle for a "no parking" sign on Berry Trail, after City Atty. Wallace S. Myers reported Berry Trail is not a city street.

LITTER REPORT—Received a request from Richard Lash to enforce the anti-litter ordinance and a report from City Administrator David J. Sumbardo that a police officer has been placed on foot patrol, anti-litter signs ordered, and a new street sweeper is to arrive soon.

JANITORIAL PAY—Postponed until March 13 action on a request by Figone Building Maintenance and Janitorial Service of San Rafael to increase its charges from $100 a month to $125 a month for cleaning city hall and the police department.

ROAD PAVING — Approved request of Wesley S. Baker for paving on Valley Road, with the cost to be pard for by residents and supervision provided by the city.

RECREATION AIDE — Approved retention of Brad Colton as assistant recreation director through June at a cost of $360.

FEE WAIVED — Waived the license fee for Cub Scout Pack 17's Fun Day at Manor School March 18.

BROTHERHOOD WEEK — Proclaimed next week as Brotherhood Week in Fairfax.

ELECTION RULES — Postponed until March 13 action on a resolution setting procedures for selection of a mayor and vice mayor.

REVIEW BOARD — Postponed until March 13 appointment of two members to the board of review.

SIGN ORDINANCE — Referred to the planning commission a recommendation from the city's planning consultant that the city adopt an interim ordinance regulating the size of signs.

TOW-AWAY ZONE — Adopted an ordinance amendment to provide for tow-away zones, and passed a resolution declaring a tow-away zone on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard from San Miqeel Court to Oak Tree Lane.

PLANNING SESSION — Adjourned until 7:30 p.m. today at the Fairfax Women's Club for a study session with county planners, commissions and citizens committee on the Fairfax general plan.

Councilman Frank J. Egger left the meeting because of illness, before the mid-way break.

Astronaut Will Have Surgery

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Astronaut Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., the world's champion space-walker, is in a Houston hospital for "minor elective surgery."

A spokesman at the Manned Spacecraft Center said Aldrin would undergo a hemorrhoidectomy in the next few days.

Aldrin, 37, an Air Force lieutenant colonel, holds the record for spending the most time outside an orbiting spacecraft. He stayed outside Gemini 12 for 5 hours and 37 minutes last November.

Drive To Oust Kuchel Started

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An attempt to unseat U.S. Sen. Thomas Kuchel in 1968 has been launched by the Los Angeles County Young Republicans—despite rejection of a similar campaign by the state organization.

Jeff Finley, president of the strongly conservative Los Angeles County group, announced yesterday that a special committee has been formed to search for a Republican candidate to oppose the veteran senator in the GOP primary.

A similar proposal was rejected two weeks ago at the California Young Republicans meeting.

Finley declared that all possible Republican opponents for Kuchel will be canvassed, and a report on each prospect will be compiled.

Temporary Span Sagging; Fairfax Residents Worry

Residents of Cypress Drive in Fairfax, isolated by a road slide last month, have a temporary bridge, but they still have troubles.

William Gallagher of 321 Cypress Drive to the Fairfax City Council last night that the outer side of the new bridge has sagged two feet and some people are afraid to use it.

Public Works Director Richard Nelson said the bridge is sound but the abutments could slip if there is heavy rainfall.

City workers laid 80-foot logs across the washed out area, anchored them in the hillside, and covered them with decking.

Nelson said the bridge is posted for emergency vehicles only.

Residents noted that persons with small cars were using the bridge, but those with larger cars weren't. "The bridge is designed for a 4,000-pound vehicle," Nelson reported.

Gallagher urged that the city construct a temporary support for the bridge. Nelson recommended that first there should be a study by a soils engineer, and the city authorized this.

Mayor Peter R. Arrigoni assured residents that the council would call a special meeting as soon as the soils report arrived.

From the White House rooftop at night, 11-year-old Jesse Grant, an amateur astronomer, studied the heavens through a gift telescope.

Session Held On Executions

SACRAMENTO (AP) — "If the governor could be persuaded capital punishment is not a deterrent, his views could change," said an opponent of California's death penalty after a 45-minute meeting with Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The opinion was expressed by Gerald Gottlieb, a staff member for the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions in Santa Barbara.

Gottlieb and American Civil Liberties Union officials from Los Angeles talked with the governor and Edwin Meese III, executive clemency secretary.

The state's last execution was in 1963 and the next is set to be March 1 for Norman Fred Talbot Jr., convicted of murder in Santa Barbara County.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Self-Conscious Youngster Asks Mother For Up-To-Date Undies

DEAR HELEN:

I am almost 13 and I need a bra badly. I can't talk to my mother about it because she doesn't like me. I am an only child.

You should hear the laughing in gym when the girls see my rippled underclothes and little-girl undershirt that is too small for me. My mother thinks that takes the place of a bra. She says girls of 12 never need them. I have one pair of good pajamas that my mother keeps in her drawer and only lets me use when I go to pajama parties. My everyday pair are all raggedy.

My outside clothes are good, but my mother thinks what you wear underneath or at home doesn't count. We aren't poor.

I hope when other mothers read this they will not put their kids through what I have to face. —ANOTHER BRA-BEAT

DEAR B.B.:

I hope so too! Maybe the following letter will wake your mother up:

DEAR HELEN:

I am writing belatedly to Bra-Beat who wondered if it was all right to let her 12-year-old wear a beginner's bra, as the other girls did.

This mother should go ahead and buy "in" underwear, no matter what her antiquated relatives think. I am 40 years old and can still remember how self-conscious and miserable I felt as an early teen-ager because I didn't have the correct underthings. Knowing you won't be laughed at is half the battle of growing up. It makes a big positive difference in a girl's attitude toward herself.

The self-confident, poised little girl isn't the one who "grows up too soon" or gets in trouble. It's the girl who feels so different she must prove that she can get notice—somehow.

So often parents and grandparents read into a young girl's natural desire for up-to-date undies a whole constellation of sexual overtones that aren't really there. Let the children be as stylish as possible from the skin out, say I Modish dress does not require large expenditures, nor does it make sex-mad monsters out of these youngsters. It does promote self-esteem.

A bra is such a little thing, but it means so much to an unsure girl who thinks she needs it. —BETTY C.

Now, back to "Another Bra-Beat:" Honey, why not show your mother these two letters and have a long overdue discussion? She doesn't dislike you — perhaps she has simply never learned to talk with her daughter. Maybe you've never given her a chance.

She won't recognize herself because this letter is a mixture of five pleas from different girls. May you all have nicer underwear day after tomorrow! —H.

DEAR HELEN:

My boy friend told me I could keep his records no matter what happened between us. The other week he broke up with me and now he wants his records back.

Is this fair? —UNDECIDED

DEAR UN:

They're his records, and even though "love" made him temporarily generous, he only lent them to you. Give 'em back. —H.

PENSIVE PERSPECTIVE—John Korty crouched to think through a low angle on Carol Androwsky, leading girl in "The Act." Male lead Peter Bonerz, (left) glances at the script while waiting for Korty to resume shooting scene.

FOR FILM DIRECTOR

Hollywood Out, Stinson Beach Is In

By JOHN F. KEARNEY

Success is not about to change John Korty. He has seen Hollywood and chosen to stay in Stinson Beach.

The 31-year-old film-maker, whose first feature-length movie, "Crazy Quilt," has won praise from coast to coast, has moved his headquarters from San Francisco to a former barn near his home in the ocean resort town.

Barn it may have been. But today it is being turned into the creative central point for a young director of whom a critic once wrote, "His camera work is musical in its power to kindle feeling."

To Korty, fair-haired, ex-New York television producer, it was simply a case of consolidating his forces for yet another assault on the picture industry. And this was just the beginning.

"I want this studio to be temporary—say about four years," he said. "Then we will be ready for a larger place, one with possibly a sound stage."

And where would this be? "Why, Stinson Beach," he said. "Where else?"

Since moving to the community four years ago, Korty has become an intrinsic part of the life of Stinson Beach and enjoys talking about the area. Residents like his type of people, too.

A youth broke away from a group outside the town's one large grocery store and pointed out directions to the gray-painted wooden building with the broken window pane.

"There it is. . . . That's where John Korty works," he said.

Over at the barn on the main street, a transformation was taking place.

At one end was a large screen above a yet-unfinished stage. Facing it, a 35 mm. projector looked out expectantly from what will eventually be a soundproof booth. Recording and dubbing equipment was to the left.

Hammer on wood clashed with the racket from a moviola over which a girl sat synchronizing sound with picture for sequences of Korty's second film, "The Act."

His first, "Crazy Quilt," was shown at seven film festivals in the United States and abroad and ran for seven weeks at the Fine Arts Theater in New York.

Although it won an ovation as a surprise entry in the 1965 San Francisco International Film Festival, moviegoers on the West Coast will have to wait until March 3 to see it again. It opens at the Surf Theater in San Francisco on that date.

As expected, when success touched Korty, it opened the gates for a flood of offers from Hollywood. He spent four days there last week, looking around and showing film clips to executives including David Wolper.

Walking in bright sunlight along the almost-deserted Marin beach, Korty spoke his thoughts of the one-time film capital.

"From what I saw of Hollywood, they can keep it right now," he said. "I would rather work for myself than as a member of that sort of team.

"They were very persuasive. They said, 'Wouldn't you like to direct Paul Newman and other big stars?'

"But then you have budgets of several million dollars. You are not too happy about a certain angle shot but there is no time to do it again and you have a producer breathing down your neck. Hollywood is dying slowly."

He looked back across the sand at his new studio. "Here I am happier working with less money. The risk of failure is far less. We can complete a film in maybe a year, taking our time and getting the results we want," he said.

"Crazy Quilt" cost about $100,000, put up by a group of San Francisco bankers. "The Act" is expected to cost a little less than twice that amount—still low budget as pictures go.

Judging from a glimpse of rough-cut sections of "The Act" Korty showed, he may well have another success on his hands when it is finished next month.

The technical style and pace showed through the work print even without the dissolves and fades which will be added later by a Hollywood film laboratory.

Parts of this film were shot in Bolinas. He uses local talent as actors, and many of the bit parts are by people who have not acted in front of a camera before. All dialogue is improvised.

"For instance," he said, "one scene was with the main character, Peter Bonerz, talking with a Bolinas fisherman. We asked the fisherman to talk naturally about fish to Bonerz, who fed him conversation lines. It came over very well." Bonerz is with San Francisco's "Committee."

Back at his two-story home overlooking the ocean where he lives with his Hawaiian-born wife, Beulah Chang Korty, he was called to the telephone to talk over an editing problem which had cropped up at the nearby studio.

This is his second home at Stinson Beach. It was at his first house that he worked alone at animation after his arrival from New York, producing among other things, "Breaking the Habit," an anti-smoking cartoon for the American Cancer Society.

Now he has reached the stage when he feels he can leave more of the producing and editing chores to others in his team, and concentrate more on directing.

And with the director's eye for space and perspective, he has chosen Stinson Beach to work. "Where else can you walk out of the door and be in the ideal place to start shooting film?" he said.

Quartet, Guest Perform Sunday

The Marin Arts Quartet and guest pianist Robaline Meacham will present the second concert in its 10th season at 3 p.m. Sunday at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley.

Compositions for piano quartet will be featured. Of special interest to students of contemporary music will be the first Marin County performance of Nikos Skalkotta's duo for violin and viola. Other works to be performed are Mozart's Quartet No. 2 in E Flat Major, K 493 and the Quartet No. 2 in G Minor, Opus 45, of Gabriel Faure.

Regular members of the quartet are violinist Charles Meacham, violist Elizabeth Bell, and cellist Jean Mitchell.

Tax Relief On Meeting Agenda

Property tax relief, assessments and Highway 17 extensions will be on the agenda tomorrow at a noon meeting of the Marin Property Owners Association at Rancho Nicasio Restaurant in Nicasio.

Also up for discussion will be the West Marin master plan, agricultural preserves, agricultural zoning, the county parks and recreation master plan, the proposed county sign ordinance, and Mount Tamalpais railroad.

Mothers Researching Dress For Gilbert-Sullivan Show

Mothers of eighth graders at Marin County Day School are themselves delving deep into English history these days.

While their children rehearse lines of Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Yeomen of the Guard" for presentation March 16 and 17, the women are researching the type of dress worn by the guards and are setting about duplicating it.

For this they have to go back as far as Tudor times, for much of the uniform worn today by the Beefeaters is the same as they wore in the reign of Elizabeth I. It consists of royal red tunic with purple facings and stripes with gold lace ornaments.

The British Information Service is giving a helping hand, as are the Lamplighters, San Francisco theater group that is renting the mothers props and costumes to be used and copied.

"We have had to do a great deal of research, too, for the costumes of villagers and peasants," said Mrs. Richard Cruikshank of Sausalito, chairman of the nine-member committee of seamstresses.

The women meet weekly at Valerie Ann's Dress Shop in Mill Valley, which is giving them the use of seven sewing machines and three cutting tables.

Exhibit On Sunday

Robert Leigh, freelance photographer, artist and lecturer, will address the Novato Art Guild meeting at 2 p.m. Sunday at St. Francis Episcopal Church. He will demonstrate his unusual fall colored ink and enamel paintings and hand-crafted picture rugs.

Democrat Club Of Sausalito To Elect Slate

The Sausalito Democratic Club will elect new officers at its annual meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. at Alta Mira Hotel, President Joie Hubbert announced.

Speaker will be Gerald N. Hill, president of the California Democratic Council. He will discuss the CDC's statewide convention in Fresno on March 10, the impact of the New Left on California's Democratic Party, and the immediate role that CDC can expect to play in California politics.

The club's nominating committee has recommended the following slate of new officers: John M. Anderson, president; Bruce Woelfel, vice president, and Rene McIntyre, secretary-treasurer.

Sex Education To Be Topic Before Boards

Sex education will be the topic for the Marin County School Boards Association dinner meeting at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 24, at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant, San Rafael.

Speaker will be Capt. James Semmens, chief of obstetrics and gynecology at Oak Knoll Naval Hospital in Oakland. His topic will be: "A Doctor Looks at Sex Education in the Schools." It will be a discussion of what schools can and should teach in their program of family life education, according to Lawrence Goldberg, program chairman.

The meeting is sponsored jointly by the Marin County School Boards Association, Marin Association of School Administrators, and county superintendent of schools. It is open to the public, with dinner reservations obtainable through Mrs. Dorothy McMahon of the county superintendent's office.

Civic Club Speaker

John H. Dills, vice president and general manager of Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., will speak on the importance of civic clubs to members of the Marin Council of Lions Clubs Thursday. The dinner meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Corte Madera Recreation Center.

Woven Tapestry In State Exhibit

Woven tapestry by Carole Elizabeth Beadle of Fairfax has been accepted for a statewide exhibition sponsored by the Creative Arts League of Sacramento.

She received the Sacramento Weavers Guild Award and her work, together with that of 100 other California craftsmen, will be on display at the E. B. Crocker Art Gallery, Sacramento, March 18 through April 23.

Kirsch Exhibit Opens Tomorrow

Paintings by San Rafael artist and architect William Webber Kirsch will be exhibited at the Horizons Gallery, 759 Bridgeway, Sausalito, tomorrow through Sunday.

Also on display will be drawings by Sausalito artist Sarah Webster. The exhibition is open noon to 5 p.m. or by special appointment.

Tardy Spacecraft Due Back Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — A spacecraft full of insects and other organisms is expected to come back to earth tonight or tomorrow — more than eight weeks late.

"We think that most everything has died," a National Aeronautics and Space Administration spokesman said last night.

When it shot aloft from Cape Kennedy Dec. 14, the spacecraft carried a 280-pound experiment capsule which housed wasps, flour beetles, fruit flies, bacteria, frog eggs and assorted plant specimens, each in separate compartments with built-in food supplies and warming devices.

Biosatellite, as it was dubbed, was supposed to come down again in three days so that scientists could see how all the living things were affected by the trip. Things didn't work out that way.

Its braking rocket refused to fire and the spacecraft, with food and oxygen supplies rapidly diminishing, kept making erratic orbits of the earth.

NASA has been tracking the runaway and noting its progressively lower path. Sometime during a 12-hour period starting at 10 p.m. today, space agency spokesmen said, it will slip back into the atmosphere and quickly come back to earth.

Biosatellite's battery may have sufficient reserves after the long flight to set in motion re-entry equipment, including a parachute for a soft landing, a radio beacon signal and a flashing light.

The signal devices would be helpful because no one can say where in the world the flying laboratory will come down. Air Force units around the globe have been alerted to stand by and assist in recovery.

Clock inaccuracies of a few seconds a day were common in the 19th Century. Today's best time-keeping devices will lose only one second in 30,000 years.

Gambling In Nevada Prison Under Attack

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — The bull pen, Nevada's answer to gambling in prison, may be on its way out.

The convicts' casino in the maximum-security state prison is under attack.

The gambling-conscious state calls it "certainly the most unique gambling establishment in the world."

Speaker Mel Close of the Nevada Assembly calls it "the most depressing thing in the world."

Games in the "bull pen," run by inmates for inmates, include everything from poker through blackjack and craps to chuck-a-luck.

Close says it is not the "type of situation that's conducive to rehabilitation.

"The only thing prisoners are being trained for now is shills," he charged.

Close and five other assemblymen entered a bill Monday to outlaw the bull pen. Close said he has enough support to push it through the assembly.

Kuchel Plans To Seek National Redwood Park

FRESNO (AP)—Sen. Thomas Kuchel, R-Calif., said today he will introduce legislation to create a national redwood park in Humboldt County.

Kuchel, here for a hearing of the Public Land Law Review Commission, said he will make his proposal shortly after his return to Washington and hearings probably would be set for April.

Rep. Wayne Aspinall, D-Colo., chairman of the land law group, said establishment of a redwood preserve is "more or less up to the people of California and the ability of the national Treasury to pay for it."

Aspinall noted the House has totaling $500 million.

Kuchel's Senate term expires next year. He said, "I don't want to engage in political speculation out loud" 15 months prior to the primary election. He said he will propose several measures, including the redwood park bill and Colorado River development legislation.

"I am a politician," he said, "and the best politics I can play is to be a good senator for this state."

Kuchel said it would be "grossly unfair to attempt any judgment" on the administration of Gov. Reagan now.

Kuchel said he expects to spend more time in California in the next year.

Dirksen Nears A Gold Record

ALTON, Ill. (AP) — Everett M. Dirksen, the silver- tongued senator-turned-recording- star, says he expects to receive his first gold record soon.

Sales of his hit recording "Gallant Men" are mounting toward the million mark he told a Lincoln Day rally yesterday.

He is preparing a second Dirksen disc. He said it would have been ready sooner but he was forced to rewrite the script submitted to him.

"I threw it in the wastebasket and wrote my own," said the Senate minority leader.

JACKSON STAMP — This is the design for the Andrew Jackson postage stamp, a 10-cent stamp of the "Prominent American" series. It will be issued March 15 at Hermitage, Tenn., the site of the seventh president's home, on his 200th birthday anniversary. It is lavender. (UPI Telephoto)

Today's Youth Is Called 'A Very Moral Generation'

DALLAS (UPI) — Today's younger generation is more conscious of morality than most previous generations, a theologian told the Christian Education Division of the National Council of Churches yesterday.

Dr. Edgar Friedenberg, professor of sociology at the University of California at Davis, said adults are wrong if they think today's youth is "loose, decadent, on the way down."

The younger generation thinks sex is bound up in all human activity and experience, Friedenberg said.

"The kids feel that drawing artificial lines around them is dishonest and harmful," he said. "For the kids there's something wrong when you start to worry about whether something you're doing is sexual."

Today's youth is insisting on "authenticity" when dealing with adults, Friedenberg said.

Rev. Dr. Howard Moody, senior pastor of New York City's Judson Memorial Church, said today's youth was a "very moral generation."

"It would not be possible for them to be pushing us older people on such issues as peace and racial and economic justice without a deep residue of moral feeling," Rev. Moody said.

New Beagles Living In White Dog House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House doghouse has two new occupants —beagle pups named "Beauregard" and "Dumpling."

The two are offspring of longtime resident "Freckles" and "Jones Brookline Buddy," a beagle owned by Mrs. Jean Dupont. With their arrival there are now six dogs—five beagles and one white collie, "Blanco" —living at the executive mansion.

Pentagon Spares Itself A Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department has spared itself a congressional investigation by killing a plan to combine the New York bureau of the Army newspaper Stars and Stripes with a news bureau based in the Washington area.

"This should still the fears of those who felt that the move intended by the Pentagon was aimed at news management," Rep. John E. Moss., D-Calif., said yesterday after it was announced the New York Stars and Stripes office would continue to operate.

When the merger plan was first announced last month, Moss said his special Government Information subcommittee would investigate to see whether the Pentagon's motive was censorship.

The Pentagon said improved efficiency and reduced costs were what it had in mind.

Facilities Talk

Proposals for recreation facilities and programs in Homestead Valley will be discussed by Pierre W. Josky, county director of parks and recreation, at a meeting of Homestead Valley Improvement Club at 8:15 p.m. today in Brown's Hall, Mill Valley. Also on the agenda is nomination and election of officers for 1967.

Money Trading Testimony Given

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A convicted bank robber has testified that Russell Di Salvo, accused of masterminding a bank robbery gang, received $2,000 from a Fisherman's Wharf holdup in 1965.

John Espinoza, 32, San Francisco, said he had given Di Salvo, 53, $10,000 from the $26,923 robbery of a Bank of America branch at the wharf and that Di Salvo exchanged it for "clean money" and returned $8,000.

Di Salvo, who formerly operated a San Francisco garage, went on trial in U. S. District Court Monday. He was charged on three counts — receiving stolen money, aiding and abetting in the robbery of the Glen Park Bank of America branch July 23, 1965, and conspiring to rob banks.

Engineer Will Talk To Students

Don Mansell of San Anselmo, project electrical design coordinator for the Bay Area Rapid Transit District, will discuss engineering with science and mathematics students at Sir Francis Drake High School tomorrow.

Mansell, an engineer with Bechtel Corp. in San Francisco, will speak in connection with Engineers Week. His subject will be, "So Who Wants to be an Engineer?".

Pike Claims Ouster Would Hurt Church

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—James A. Pike, former Episcopal bishop of California, says that if his church deposes him for heresy, it will "paint itself into a pre-Copernican corner" damaging its chances for growth in a "new reformation" he senses ahead.

Dr. Pike talked to the Texas Bill of Rights Foundation last night.

THE CHARGE

In his address, and a news conference afterward, he referred to the charges brought against him before the house of bishops of the Episcopal Church in the United States.

Saying the charges had sharpened his awareness of an accused man's rights, Pike said he stands against "the violation of person as person" and that in all forms of law "when people are involved," forms of procedure are meshed with the merits of the case itself.

Dr. Pike said a recent California Supreme Court move extending the right of discovery to defendants in cases where previously it was denied would be useful to him in any church trials which lay ahead, since canon law is based on the civil law where the trial will be held.

CURRENT ROLE

In his current role on the staff of the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions in Santa Barbara, Calif., Dr. Pike said: "I'm more of a bishop than I was as an administrator. And they don't know the word 'heresy' up there."

He said he now considered himself a "worker priest" like others who have moved from the church and into the world.

Such a movement, he said, is a sign of a new reformation adding. "I sense it all over the world."

Earlier in Dallas, he told National Council of Churches delegates that the "death of God" controvery over the last 18 months has sent the church "down the slippery slope . . . and don't think it's going to be slow the rest of the way down."

He said that skepticism about the Christian church no longer focuses on such traditionally debatable points as the Virgin Birth or the Trinity.

THE QUESTION

"The whole bit is what's under question, not the Virgin Mary. The whole package of the church is looking odder and odder, like astronomy or alchemy. And they're not even interested at looking at parts of it," Dr. Pike said.

Dr. Pike said he felt the church had to take a more active part in the world, and church members, rather than being out to protect their own interests, must live for others.

"We must affirm the style of life of the man for others—of the servant image, of saying, doing, acting out life. It's not primarily what can a man believe, but how?" Dr. Pike said.

He said he didn't believe heaven and hell could exist today in their commonly defined terms of good folks and bad folks.

Anti-Smog Expert Critical Of State Auto Enforcement

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An air pollution specialist says state auto smog control regulations have not been applied as intended by the legislature.

Los Angeles County Air Pollution Control Officer Louis J. Fuller said yesterday that the laws have been enforced in a way that is "evasion of the clear intent" of the legislature.

Fuller spoke before a U.S. Senate subcommittee, discussing allegations that minimum state standards were not met by devices installed on 1966 cars.

Fuller placed responsibility for the lack of proper devices "squarely upon the auto industry," saying the state has been too easy on the manufacturers.

The State Motor Vehicle Pollution Control Board, Fuller said, has "averaged out auto and device performance." Consequently there can be as many cars below the standard as there are above, he explained.

U.S. Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., warned that federal standards might "Pre-empt higher and more effective California standards."

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie said his committee was here for two days to study additional federal smog legislation.

The Maine Democrat summed it up this way:

"What we're dealing with is a problem that relates to survival on this planet."

Eric Grant, executive director of the pollution control board, said that if California had waited for perfect smog control devices, cars would still be without any such devices.

Flood Issues On Agenda For Council

Although the recent heavy rains are past, their effect still is felt in the Novato City Council.

The council will receive a report on the costs to the city to keep the storm drainage working during the rains, when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

It will also receive a letter from the residents of Arbor Circle about flooding along that street, and a report on progress of the federal flood control project on Novato Creek and its tributaries.

City Mgr. J. Julien Baget will report on filling the position of assistant planning director and hiring a financial consultant for the city's capital improvement project.

Edward W. Adams, parks and recreation director, will report on the cost of hiring a landscape architect consultant to help plan the city's parks.

Other items to come before the council include setting a calendar for budget meetings, accepting the gift of a water fountain, and completion of the Novato planning contract.

Lost Da Vinci Manuscripts Found In Spain

BOSTON (AP) — A scholar says two lost manuscripts of Leonardo da Vinci discovered in Spain may result in several inventions being attributed to the Italian master for the first time.

Dr. Ladislao Reti of the Elmer Belt Library of Vinciana of the University of California at Los Angeles told a news conference yesterday.

Until now we had only 5,000 pages of Da Vinci in the world. These manuscripts contain 700 pages, so this adds about one-sixth to what we have of the master."

FOUND IN SPAIN

The discovery was announced at the news conference by Dr. Jules Piccus, professor of romance languages at the University of Massachusetts, who said he found the works in the National Library of Madrid, Spain.

Reti, an expert on Da Vinci's scientific works, said the manuscripts were produced between 1491 and 1505, and contain notes and 200 drawings.

"We feel that these manuscripts will result in several new inventions being attributed to Da Vinci," Reti said. "For example, the chain drive like that on bicycles. We first know of this in the 18th century, but careful drawings of the chain drive appear on these pages.

OTHER IDEAS

"And there are drawings of a corn mill with an automatic sifter machine which we first know of from the 16th century. There are many other examples of early automation."

Piccus said he was making a "systematic search for Spanish medieval poetry" when he came upon the works.

Piccus asked Reti to authenticate the manuscripts. This was completed two weeks ago, he said.

Reti said the writing in the manuscripts is backward and can be read only in a mirror. "Only Da Vinci did that sort of writing in that way." Dr. Reti said, "and it cannot be forged."

EMPEROR SELASSIE
New role in offing?

Haile Selassie In Capital To See LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, who in his 70s has come into new influence in troubled Africa, meets today with President Johnson.

The "Lion of Judah," now 74 but as crisply erect as ever, arrived at Andrews Air Force Base yesterday for his first visit to Washington since the funeral of President John F. Kennedy.

Although government officials said they did not know what the emperor wished to talk about with Johnson, they did say the meeting was arranged at his request.

Foreign affairs specialists said it was likely that Haile Selassie would want to ask Johnson for more information on the new emphasis the United States is putting on multinational and regional aid programs.

Addis Ababa, capital of the mountainous nation that Haile Selassie rules, could take on increased importance as a result of the multinational-regional approach. It already serves as headquarters for the Organization for African Unity and of the United Nations Economic Commission for Africa.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

THIRD SECTION — SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1967 — 19

HIS HIGH-FLYING HONOR

Fasten your seatbelts and your parachutes, too. That is no Air Force man sitting at the engineer's controls of the Globemaster (C-124). It is Mayor C. Paul Bettini of San Rafael, with City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen kibitzing. Don't worry, the plane never got off the ground. The two were among officials touring Hamilton Air Force Base Sunday during the dedication of a new hangar. Two Youths Cited For Shotgun Blast

A shooting involving two carloads of teen-agers on a San Rafael street Sunday night was disclosed today by police in a delayed report.

Two youths have been cited for assault with a deadly weapon in the shotgun blasting of a car carrying teen-agers who wanted to fight them, police said.

Chief Charles J. Chiesa said the delay in the report resulted because the investigating officer failed to tell superiors of the incident until mid-day yesterday.

Cited to probation authorities in the shooting were a 17-year-old Terra Linda youth and his cousin, a 15-year-old from San Rafael.

Police said the 15-year-old admitted firing at the auto at Fourth Street and Grand Avenue at 11:30 p.m. Sunday in the belief it carried some youths who had intimidated them earlier.

Police said the front end of a car driven by Mark C. Dohrman, 17, of 128 Tamal Vista Drive, San Rafael, was riddled by about 50 pellets as the youth fired from the rear window of a station wagon driven by his older cousin. No one was hit.

Dohrman told police he was following the station wagon after an earlier altercation in which the occupants of the wagon shouted insults at Dohrman and his passengers in downtown San Rafael.

Dohrman said the cousins and another passenger in the wagon were challenged to a fight on the courthouse lawn, but they never appeared. He said his group went looking for the wagon after police appeared at the courthouse and dispersed them as they waited to fight.

The 15-year-old told police he went to his San Rafael home to get his shotgun after being threatened by several carloads of other youths.

School Chief Screening Dates Listed

A panel of educators selected to screen applicants for superintendent of Mill Valley School District last night advised trustees they will review qualifications of applicants next Wednesday.

The panel will interview applicants March 3 and 4, and trustees will interview finalists during the following week, reported Supt. G. R. McConnell, who will leave June 30.

The four panelists are Aubrey Haan, dean of the school of education, San Francisco State College; George McCabe, dean of school of education, Sonoma State College; Richard Foster, superintendent of San Ramon Unified School District in Contra Costa County, and Mrs. Frank Webber, first grade teacher at Strawberry Point School.

Trustees authorized McConnell to sign agreements for services on an hourly basis with Royston, Hanamoto, Mayes and Beck for site planning of a "middle school" in the Project 17 area; Bushnell, Jessup, Murphy and Van DeWeghe for planning of additions and remodeling at existing schools, and Campbell and Wong and Associates for planning the "middle school."

Mill Valley School District Turstees also:

RESIGNATION — Accepted resignation of Charlotte M. Gates, third grade teacher at Strawberry Point School, and a teacher in the district for 28 years. Miss Gates resigned due to illness. Mary Elliot, sixth grade teacher at Old Mill School will replace her, and Miss Elliot's place will be filled by Kathryn J. Steeves, who has been on overseas leave.

DUTIES — Adopted policies spelling out duties of the district superintendent and trustees.

STUDY — Referred proposed policies on salaries and sabbatical leave to the salary study committee.

NEGOTIATING — Deferred discussion of a proposal by Mill Valley Teachers Association for a board of review.

CLAIM —Received a claim for $25,000 from Walter Zolezzi for a cut forehead suffered by his daughter, Carrie, on a school bus.

ELECTION — Agreed to consolidate the City of Mill Valley's $500,000 sewer bond election with the school board election on April 18.

Burglary Trial Is Scheduled

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court today scheduled a three-day jury trial for Thomas Floyd Davis, 24, to begin May 2.

Davis, of 4 Martin Road, Fairfax, is accused of burglary of Western Sport Shop, 902 Third Street, San Rafae, on Dec. 28. San Rafael police said they arrested him at gunpoint inside the store after he broke through display shelves to the floor.

Wife Charges Assault During Family Fuss

William H. Hovey Sr., shot through the chest Jan. 18 in an exchange of gunfire with arresting officers, was in fresh trouble today, charged with assault and battery by his wife.

Hovey—free on $2,200 bail on the asstult charge rising out of the shooting incident—was arrested last night by Novato Police Officer Gary Stansfield after his wife, Marguerite O. Hovey, 50, charged him with assaulting her during a family argument at their home at 109 San Felipe Way.

On being booked at the Marin County Jail on the new charge and released on $386 bail, Hovey just after midnight asked Novato police to investigate a burglary at his house.

Sgt. William Cann said Hovey wanted his wife arrested for theft of her clothing and a .44-caliber Magnum revolver, which he said she took with her when she left home during his latest short sojurn in jail. No charges, however, were brought against Mrs. Hovey, reported Cann.

The gun was the one Hovey has been charged with firing Jan. 18 at Stansfield and Sheriff's Deputy Anthony J. Russo when they went to his house to arrest him for an inebriecy hearing. Russo returned a single shot that narowly missed Hovey's heart, passed through his body and smashed a stereo set behind him.

Hovey, a 59-year old auto salesman, spent time in a San Francisco hospital, and was later freed on bail. No date has been set yet for his trial on the first assault charge.

Meeting Changed

The regular meeting of the Novato Sanitary District Board, scheduled for 6 p.m. Thursday, has been moved ahead to 6 p.m. tomorrow at the North Marin County Water District office at 999 Atherton Avenue, Novato.

OFFICER SEES BRIGHT WHITE OBJECT IN SKY

A "flying saucer" was sighted about 12:40 a.m. today over Novato.

Officer Paul Robin of Novato police said he saw the object moving to the southeast, flying faster than an airplane, while he was southbound on South Novato Boulevard.

He described it as glowing bright white. It did not drop toward earth like a meteor, he said.

Maj. Thomas C. Underwood, duty officer at Hamilton Air Force Base, said the base received no report of an unidentified flying object.

Mayfair Chain To Drop Stamps

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Mayfair Markets announced yesterday it would discontinue games and trading stamps at its 21 Utah stores and offer lower prices instead beginning Thursday.

Waynes Brown, Utah division manager, said the stores would be closed today and tomorrow for re-pricing.

Brown said the move was the result of a survey which showed Utah housewives would rather have lower prices than stamps and games.

Wildlife Film Scheduled Sunday

A color film on wildlife and conservation entitled "For Generations to Come" will be presented by its maker, Howard L. Orians of Madison, Wis., at Olney Hall, College of Marin, Sunday at 8 p.m.

The showing will be one in the series of wildlife film presentations sponsored by Marin Audubon Society.

The society has also scheduled a bird walk for beginners to start March 5 at 9 a.m. from the south end of Town and Country Village Shopping Center, Strawberry.

Foundation Asks Hospital Site Search

The San Rafael General Hospital Foundation last night directed City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen, foundation president, and executive committee to seek site for a new hospital near the Civic Center.

The foundation is aiming for construction on 16 acres of a 200-acre site porposed for development by Stanford B. Weiss.

The naming of Andersen and the executive committee to conduct negotiations followed the resignation Jan. 10 of Arthur G. Burns, former hospital administrator, who had been retained by the foundation to seek a new hospital site.

Andersen today expressed hope he would have a commitment from property owners within 90 days. Still, he conceded, a new hospital could not be finished for five years.

The foundation, meeting in the Greenbras office of member Dan Coleman, re-elected Andersen president and Edward Morphy as vice president. James Bawler was named treasurer, and Pauline Elder, secretary.

Dr. Samuel T. D. Andersen was re-elected to a four-year term on the board of trustees, and named a member at-large to the executive committee.

Marijuana Brings Extra Jail Time

Michael Raymond Tauer, 19, was sentenced to six additional months in county jail today in Marin Superior Court for possession of marijuana in the jail last Dec. 12.

He already is serving 120 days for possession of narcotics paraphernalia and violation of probation.

Tauer, of 53 Meadow Drive, Alto, had two marijuana cigarettes in one of his socks when he reported back to jail from work furlough. He pleaded guilty Dec. 29.

Landmark Fund Drive At $5,000

The Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society has reached the half-way point in its $10,000 fund-raising campaign to meet the mortgage on Old St. Hilary's Landmark and other project expenses.

Mrs. John A. Ericson, executive secretary of the society, in reporting the status of the drive begun last December, listed other purposes as: restoration of period chandeliers in Old St. Hilary's, initial expenses in publication of a local history, photographer's fees for color slides of Tiburon flora and a fence for the John Thomas Botanical Garden.

The local history will be completed, Mrs. Ericson said, in spite of the death of its originator, Susanna Bryant Dakin, who was killed with her husband, Richard, their son and daughter-in-law and four grandchildren, Dec. 21 on a chartered flight to Baja California.

"There was some confusion at the time of the Dakin tragedy," Mrs. Ericson said, "as to Mrs. Dakin's part in the purchase of the Old St. Hilary's Church. She did purchase it from the Archbishop of San Francisco, as well as a small parcel of land on which it is situated. The rest of the two acres is still being purchased by contribution."

Fall-Out Shelter Class Series Set

The first class of a 15-week course on "Fall-out Shelter Analysis" for Marin County architects and engineers will be held tomorrow in the science building of San Rafael High School at 7 p.m.

The no-fee course is organized by the Santa Rosa region of the Civil Defense Administration. Isstructor will be Prof. Herbert F. Lowe of Merrit College, Oakland.

Trojan Horse Still Minus Marin Stable

Dennis Patton's "Trojan Horse" is still homeless.

The Corte Madera Planning Commission last night unanimously denied Patton's request to display the large wooden horse on property of Vernon Humber east of Highway 101, because the commissioners felt the location was bad. The property is undeveloped, and commissioners felt the horse might constitute an "attractive nuisance" to children.

Patton said he will appeal to the Corte Madera Town Council.

The commission set public hearing for March 13 on zoning for four areas being annexed to Corte Madera. Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher recommended residential zoning for Christmas Tree Hill and the Fred Sanford annexation on Meadowsweet Drive, light industrial and highway commercial for an area near the reailroad tracks north of the State Department of Motor Vehicles office, and local shopping zone for the Berkeley Co-op market site.

Also set for March 13 was public hearing on rezoning from single-family residential to highway commercial of the Department of Motor Vehicles property, recommended by Usher.

The commission approved applications for a nursery school at the First Baptist Church, 5461 Paradise Drive; for a day care center at the home of Robert B. Simpson, 114 Willow Avenue, and for Foster R. Mahood of 140 Grove Avenue to use his home as a receiving home for the Marin County Welfare and Probation departments.

Architectural plans by Ervin H. Hille for a home at 5 Grace Court, and by Morris Hozz for a sales office at J and B Ford, 5860 Paradise Drive, were approved.

The commission approved "in principle" plans of Lytton Savings and Loan Association to complete construction of 144 apartments on Paradise Drive.

Trustees Hear School Report Delay

Trustees of West Marin School District were told yesterday to expect a request for postponement until March 14 of completion of the much-delayed construction at West Marin School.

Originally scheduled for occupancy last fall, the library classroom, maintenance and kindergarten buildings were delayed by unforeseen soil and construction problems and were most recently set for completion Feb. 15.

Supt. Howard F. Brose said Pace Pacific Enterprises had advised the architects, Haines and Tatarian, of the need for extension.

Trustees designated the fire stations at Inverness and Point Reyes Station as polling places for the April 18 school board election. Three positions on the board are to be filled.

Brose suggested the board consider making the new school library, when completed, available to the entire community after school hours and have it join the county library system. The suggestion was put over to the next meeting, March 13 at 8 p.m. at West Marin School.

Firemen To Seat New Officers

Robert Wagner of Novato will be installed as president of the Marin County Association of Fire Departments at a dinner-dance starting at 7 p.m. Saturday at the Lodge, Novato.

Trophy for the "fireman of the year" will be presented at the affair, at which Novato volunteer firemen will be hosts.

The Novato volunteers last night completed plans for the event and set for June 11 their annual public barbecue at the Silveira Ranch north of Novato on Highway 101.

Legal Abortion Meeting Slated

A meeting to organize a Marin County chapter of the California Committee to Leagalize Abortion will be held Feb. 21 at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Hart on Upper Road, Ross.

The committee is an organization formed to seek repeal of present abortion laws so that a pregnant woman may be free to determine the outcome of her own pregnancy, according to Emily A. Champagne of Berkeley, an organizer.

Miss Champagne said the group's goal is to sponsor a constitutional initiative for the fall of 1968 to repeal abortion laws, and chapters are being formed state-wide.

San Mateo Woman Injured In Wreck

Josephine Shiner Williams, 17, of San Mateo, was in fair condition today in Marin General Hospital with a cut lip and contusions suffered in a three-car accident yesterday at 7:10 p.m. on Highway 101 at the Spencer Avenue overpass.

Mrs. Williams' southbound car suddenly swerved into the right guard rail, then veered left and struck one driven by James Russell Lucas, 38, of San Francisco, causing it to spin around facing oncoming traffic, the California Highway Patrol reported. It was then hit head-on by a car driven by Alfred Frank Little, 50, of 323 Cardinal Street, Mill Valley.

Mill Valley Auto Theft Is Reported

Theft of his 1957 two-door Pontiac from in front of his house was reported yeaterday to Mill Valley police by Mark J. Ziegler, 434 Throckmorton Avenue. License number of the yellow and black sedan is DOB 771.

Robert N. Tremelling, 350 Corte Madera Avenue, Mill Valley, reported that vandals had pushed his cement mixer into the creek behind his house. Gears, wheels and frame of the mixer were broken, he said.

SHE HAS A PLAN TO BE PROUD OF

Jackie Parnell of Tiburon is one of 1500 Marin housewives who've planned and worked for seven years to have their own Co-op in their own county.

That plan will be a reality in March, when Co-op Marin opens in Corte Madera.

Community-minded, Co-op-thinking Jackie's field is city planning. She's on the Tiburon Peninsula Advisory Committee . . . has served on Tiburon's city council . . . is a devoted Co-op volunteer, leading its membership drive last year.

Her viewpoint: "When you make plans for your own Marin shopper-owned Co-op, you plan for the whole community. Co-op Marin is a blueprint in the community for one of the ideal things a store can be:

"You can depend on it, because you own it."

NOTICE OF FILING APPLICATION FOR INCREASES AND DECREASES FOR INTRASTATE TELEPHONE RATES

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company on February 10, 1967, filed with the Public Utilities Commission of the State of California an application, numbered 49142, for authority to increase and decrease certain intrastate rates and charges applicable to telephone service furnished within the State of California. In general terms, the proposed increases and decreases are as follows:

Exchanges in the San Francisco-East Bay, Los Angeles, San Diego and Orange County extended areas would receive increases resulting from the application of a uniform set of basic exchange rates for residence and business service. The increases, on the average, amount to about $1.50 per month per main residence telephone and $3.50 per month per main business telephone. Message unit allowances would be standardized at 30 for 2-party line message rate residence service, with a decrease in the basic monthly charge for this service, and 85 for message rate business lines. The message unit charge would be increased from $.0405 to $.0485.

For exchanges located outside the San Francisco-East Bay, Los Angeles, San Diego and Orange County extended areas, increases and decreases in basic exchange residence and business rates result from the application of an increased and graduated scale of rates based on the size of the exchange and whether or not extended area service is offered in the exchange. In most instances there would be an increase in rates which, on the average, would amount to about 50¢ per month per main residence telephone, and about $3.00 per month per main business telephone.

In all exchanges the service connection charge for residence would be increased from $8.50 to $10.00.

For directory advertising, increases would result from an increase in the number of circulation rate groups, a change in the method of determining circulation rate groups, and an increase in the level of rates within the new rate groups.

Key telephone rates would be increased. At the same time, rates for this service would be packaged and simplified. There are also increases in the rates for Centrex stations, a wide range of miscellaneous equipment services, intra-exchange private line channels, and certain features of public mobile telephone service.

Changes in various charges for certain toll private line IX 30 baud channels would decrease the rates for these services.

The total increases are estimated to amount to $181,356,000.

These increases are proposed to become effective upon grant of authority therefor by the Public Utilities Commission of the State of California and in various counties and municipal corporations therein, including the County of Marin and the cities located therein in which the company operates. The State of California and the counties and municipal corporations which may be interested in the application may obtain a copy thereof from the Applicant upon request directed to:

Venus May Spot No Life On Earth

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Life on earth?

No foreign astronomer peering at this planet from Mars or Venues or the moon, or even from a space platform only 23,000 miles away, would swear there was.

If there's anything scientists dislike, it's trying to prove a negative. So if you asked an astronomer from another world whether earth could harbor living creatures, he'd probably give you an evasive answer.

"In all probability," he might well say, "it doesn't. The extreme wetness of earth...its extreme temperature ranges . . . its extremely thick cloud cover...all argue against existence of life as we know it."

Those of us who live here, and are neighbor to the pine, and shrew, the sidewinder rattlesnake, the mosses and the grasses, would naturally take issue with this verdict.

So, some day, may the inhabitants of Venus—if there are any and if they ever hear what earth scientists have been saying about their planet.

Venus is earth's sister planet —in size and such—and its nearest neighbor in the solar system aside from the moon and sundry meteors, comets, and asteroids that come close to us now and then.

Astronomers have felt certain for years that Venus, the brightest of the evening and morning stars, is completely shrouded by a dense, opaque atmosphere that perpetually hides its surface.

No picture ever taken of Venus by an earth-based astronomical telescope has provided a peek at whatever may lie beneath the planet's cloud cover.

The impenetrable clouds of Venus figure largely in scientific arguments that no life could exist on this lovely celestial body whose orbit is only 26 million miles nearer the sun than earth's.

But are Venus' clouds really impenetrable? Is the fair planet's mask perfect? Or are there gaps in it through which a man or a camera, if close enough, could peer to the surface below?

On Aug. 23, America's Lunar Orbiter 1 snapped a picture of earth from the edge of the moon 240,000 miles away. The crescent view was beautiful and spectacular.

A caption provided by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) identified various geographical areas known to exist by reason of the fact that earthlings had been there and seen them.

But the fact is that the photograph really revealed nothing whatever—except that earth is covered by a heavy pall of clouds which effectively blot out surface features.

Months later a much nearer spacecraft, orbiting only 23,000 miles away, took nearly full-face pictures of the earth. These, too, confirmed that our planet is pretty well masked by clouds. They did, however, prove that the earth has a surface which can occasionally be glimpsed through the clouds if you get close enough.

The point is that if you could get a camera within 23,000 miles of Venus you might well see things invisible at greater distances.

Instrumental observations of Venus, including those made in 1962 by Mariner 2, suggest that the planet's surface temperature is around 800 degrees fahrenheit, hotter than the melting point of zinc.

So, naturally, "life as we know it" couldn't exist on Venus. Why is Venus so hot? Well, it is closer to the sun, but that doesn't answer the question altogether.

So come back to that dense, impenetrable Venusian atmosphere. It has a lot of carbon dioxide in it and some water vapor. These gases absorb and hold solar heat. On earth this heat radiates to space again but on Venus it presumably is locked up and held by the so-called greenhouse effect.

The picture of earth from the moon has caused scientists to think again about the mask of Venus. Down here we know there are gaps in the earth's cloud cover. It may develop that back there on Venus there also are gaps, which would mess up the greenhouse notion.

Moreover, some scientists believe the high Venusian temperatures reported by astronomical and Mariner 2 instruments may stem from electronic emissions in the planet's atmosphere and may have little to do with actual surface temperatures.

You can find a lot of scientists who believe it quite possible that Venus has what it takes to mother life, if not on the surface at least in the cooler upper layers of the atmosphere where something like the plankton of the sea might thrive in aerial suspension.

In any case, man's view of earth from the moon has given him second thoughts about his conclusions based on views of Venus from earth. NASA scientists hope some day to fly people or cameras near enough to Venus to find out whether its atmosphere is as ovenlike as supposed.

This won't be soon. No program for such close manned or photographic flyby missions is in the works. But scientists are a lot more eager to undertake them than they were before Lunar Orbiter 1 took that picture of the clouded crescent earth.

Speculation about what kinds of life Venus might harbor, if it could sustain any at all, has ranged all the way from bacteria in the air to advanced creatures cavorting on Venusian plains and in Venusian seas.

According to NASA's Dr. Robert Jastrow, a French observer in 1686 said, "I can tell from here what the inhabitants of Venus are like. They are full of wit and fire, always writing verses, and fond of music."

Jastrow shares the general scientific opinion that Venus really is extremely hot and extremely dry and therefore devoid of life. But....

Who knows? The astronomers of Venus may be forced some day to revise their ideas of whether life can exist on earth.

Viet Visitor Not Sure Of U.S. Victory

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—One of four American women who recently visited Vietnam says she believes the United States can no longer "win a military victory" there.

Mrs. Patricia Griffith said she believed one of the problems is that "we don't know about the problems of underdeveloped countries."

The 32-year-old housewife, a mother of four and the wife of a Cornell University chemistry professor, told a news conference here Monday she felt American bombers were intentionally bombing civilian targets.

It was "just impossible to believe U.S. pilots were as wide of their targets as the places the bombs fell," she said.

Mrs. Griffith and the other women visited North Vietnam for 11 days, ending Jan. 2, as guests of the North Vietnam Women's union. They did not seek or receive State Department approval for the trip.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Evening Colic Usually Starts During First Four Months

VAN DELLEN

Evening colic is a condition that some babies develop during the first four months of life. It varies from mild fussiness to severe attacks of screaming that last a few minutes and are followed by an equal period of quiet. Most authorities agree that the distress stems from gas in the intestine but none agree as to why. In fact, the "whys" include almost everything that could happen to a baby.

The various theories recently published in the British Medical Journal include allergy, under- or overfeeding, the foods being too hot, too cold, too frequent, too infrequent, too weak, too strong, or containing to much fat, carbohydrate, or protein.

ONE AUTHORITY blamed "bouncing the baby" too much, whereas others suggested that the condition is due to father's smoking, or upsetting his wife, or mother upsetting the baby because she is unsure of herself. Other authorities were more subtle and blamed evening colic on a disease of the alimentary tract, urinary system, gallbladder, bones, nose or ears. All of these theories can be eliminated because the infant is bothered only in the evening.

Many child psychiatrists believe that the mothers of colicky babies "have poorer parent-child relationships, greater concern over their adequacy as women, poor marital adjustment, and less mothering love than mothers of control children." Another group of physicians dispute everything that has been mentioned as possible causes. One medic found that most of the mothers were stable, cheerful, and feminine.

ALL THIS RESEARCH on a benign condition that ceases when the child is 4 months old. It is not due to hunger and the child does not stop crying when cuddled. The most astute observation was that the baby is quieted when he hears a motor, vacuum cleaner, washing machine or dishwasher. How about that?

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

HEREDITARY VEINS

Mrs. D. E. writes: My married daughter, age 30, claims she inherited varicose veins from me. I have had them since I bore my daughter. Please let me hear from you.

REPLY

Varicose veins often "run in families." The children inherit the tendency to develop the condition because of an inherent weakness of the walls of the veins. If this is a family feud, you can blame your mother and your grandchildren can blame your daughter.

FACIAL CHANGES

C. M. F. writes: While I was hospitalized last year for a checkup my doctor asked me if I had noticed a change in the contour of my face. What was he trying to find out? Perhaps this is a routine question.

REPLY

Were you receiving cortisone? Hormones of this type may change the facial contour (moon face) temporarily.

RED LICORICE

A reader writes: Is red licorice bad for children?

REPLY

No, assuming it is made by a reputable dealer. The FDA is overcautious about dyes used in foods and candies.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Repertory Troupe Deserves Applause

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The Prince Street Players of New York the repertory company that last December offered a comic musical adaptation of 'Jack and the Beanstalk" on CBS-TV, returned last night with "Pinocchio."

This latest one-hour presentation was not as winning as the first, mainly, I think, because for the most part it lacked the same zippy irreverence—but perhaps this is only a complaint that a grownup would come up with. It could be that children found the musical version of "Pinocchio" highly enjoyable.

WORTH A LOOK

For my own part, although I found it moderately pleasant and not too distinguished in its original score, I do think that this fine repertory troupe should continue to be represented on CBS-TV with others of its children's shows. At their best, the Prince Street Players are very good, and when they are not so hot they are still available enough and worth taking a look at.

The chief assets of "Jack and the Beanstalk"—last December's show—were a gentelman named Will B. Able, who portrayed the zany, vaudeville-style giant, and Dorothy Greener, who played his tiny, poker-faced assistant. They were aided by some show-stopping, rousing songs.

Last night, however, the only number that really approached their pace was a comic Italian operatic duo by two slippery highway thieves, one of them a fox (Robert Dagny) and the other a cat (Bob Lussier). Mr. Able was on hand again, but his role as a carpenter who narrated the story of the puppet who became a real boy was not at all inspired, and he couldn't do much with it. Nobody could. Miss Greener, meanwhile, wasn't on hand at all. I think she could have helped shape things up. Her attitude changes everything around her—she is sheer, loony camp.

"The Investigation," NBC-TV's 90-minute adaptation of the Peter Weiss drama based on court testimony in Nazi atrocity trials, will not only be seen April 14, but will be repeated by the network two days later, on a Sunday afternoon.

According to "Variety," the show business newspaper, the decision to present a quick rerun "was made following a complaint from leaders of Jewish orthodoxy that the program was scheduled at a time when their devout would be unable to view it. The Jewish Sabbath begins at sundown Friday, and orthodox Jews are prohibited from engaging in commerce, driving cars or turning lights (or TV sets) until sundown the following day." The newspaper added:

"Since 'The Investigation' has a special relevance to Jews, as a dramatic re-creation of the Nazi war trials, the network set the second telecast...A spokesman for the WEB (network) said that when it had realized its error it was too late to alter the date of the original primetime telecast."

Public Housing Self-Building Idea Discussed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The possibility of using the people who will live in public housing projects to help construct the homes is under consideration by housing officials.

Joseph Burstein, general counsel of the Housing Assistance Administration, said yesterday the "do-it-yourself" approach to public housing has proved successful in some projects involving American Indians.

In the program, Burstein said, skilled crews supervised some Indian handymen. He said the plan appeared to spur additional interest by the dweller in the house.

Speaking at a forum on national housing policy sponsored by the National Association of Housing and Redevelopment Officials, Burstein said the self-help approach may be the answer to slum eradication in the United States.

'What's My Line' Will Be Dropped

NEW YORK (AP)—"What's My Line?" the second oldest program on television, will be dropped from the schedule of the Columbia Broadcasting System next fall, the New York Times said today.

The panel show has been on the air since February 1950. Only the Ed Sullivan Show, which went on the air 17 months earlier, is older.

Army Using Court Martial Civilian Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Claiming precedents back to the Revolutionary War, the Army has asserted its authority to court-martial American civilians "serving with or accompanying" U.S. troops in Vietnam.

The Army said yesterday its position was "nothing new." It pointed to the Uniform Code of Military Justice, which says that "in time of war persons serving with or accompanying an armed force in the field" — such as newsmen — are subject to court-martial.

This has been true since 1775, the Department of Defense said.

One civilian has already been tried by a military court in Vietnam, the Pentagon said Monday. A spokesman declined to identify the defendant except to say that he was a civilian seaman.

The charge against the man was not revealed, although the spokesman said the proceeding last November was a summary court-martial, which is reserved for comparatively minor offenses.

UFO Reports On Increase During 1966

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Reports of unidentified flying objects — UFOs — boomed last year, reports Maj. Hector Quintanilla, director of Project Blue Book at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base.

But whatever the sightings are, it's a safe bet they offer no threat to national security and don't come from outer space, the Air Force says.

A total of 1,060 sightings were submitted to the Air Force during 1966, second highest total since Blue Book began keeping tabs 20 years ago. The annual average is 555, the record 1,501 in 1952.

Of the 11,107 sightings since 1947, Quintanilla says, just 676 remain in the unidentified category. Only 30 of those checked out last year haven't been explained satisfactorily.

Another 242 sightings are listed as having insufficient data for identification.

Wild Munich Street Brawl Being Probed

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — A wild street brawl between U.S. soldiers and German police and taxi drivers late Sunday is under investigation by U.S. Army authorities, a military spokesman said today.

He said he could not confirm German police reports that one soldier had threatened a policeman with a loaded submachine gun.

A preliminary Army investigation report said that the fracas lasted about 20 minutes before an officer restored order.

This conflicted sharly with German police and newspaper reports that a free-for-all in which soldiers attacked police with sticks, bottles, stones and chair legs lasted for an hour.

The fight started, police reported, when they tried to arrest a soldier who they said had fled from the scene of a minor collision between his car and a taxi.

Clothes Hanger Driver Underway

The Redwood High School Business Club today began a drive to collect metal clothes hangers and sell them to finance a career day and a business skills contest at the school.

Area dry cleaners have offered to pay a half-cent per hanger, the club said. Sutdents have been urged to bring hangers from home.

Jackie Kin Denies Rumor On Marriage

HONG KONG (UPI)—Mrs. Lewis Rutherford today denied a London report quoting her as saying her half-sister, Mrs. John F. Kennedy, "wants to marry again for the sake of her children."

"Who said I said this? It's ridiculous. I wouldn't make such a comment. It is completely inaccurate. It's only a rumor," Mrs. Rutherford said.

Mrs. Rutherford, currently living in Hong Kong with her husband was indignant when asked about the report, published in the London Sunday Express.

"A year ago there was also a strong rumor that she was going to get married, which upset her very much. I don't know how she could receive another rumor of that kind again," Mrs. Rutherford said.

She said no one could stop Mrs. Kennedy from remarrying.

"I have no idea at all whether she will or not," Mrs. Rutherford added.

"None of us in the family nor in the states could stop her from doing what she wanted to do. If she wanted to marry again, our family would certainly have no objection, but we did not say we wanted her to remarry."

Exhibit Of Ike's Art Is Planned

NEW YORK (AP) — Works by one of the nation's most famous amateur painters will go on display in New York's Gallery of Modern Art this spring.

More than 60 paintings by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower will get their first public exposure in an exhibition to benefit the new Eisenhower College in Seneca Falls, N.Y.

Mississippi Slaying Figure Seeks Office

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Byron De La Beckwith, who was twice tried for the ambush murder of civil rights leader Medgar W. Evers, today announced his candidacy for lieutenant governor of Mississippi.

In announcing his candidacy, Beckwith, 45, said "I feel that this campaign will provide me with the opportunity to repay the many kindnesses which I have received from my fellow Mississippians by offering myself as a candidate whose political position has already been clearly established."

Dist. Atty. Bill Waller, who prosecuted Beckwith, is a candidate for governor.

Both trials resulted in hung juries.

Beckwith, a former resident of Greenwood recently moved to Jackson where he is employed as an advertising salesman for a segregationist newspaper, the Southern Review.

The first Mississippi primary is Aug. 8.

Evers, 37, field secretary in Mississippi for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was shot down by a sniper in the driveway of his Jackson home, June 12, 1963.

Beckwith was arrested after an intensive investigation by the FBI and other law enforcement agencies.

The state charged that Beckwith's fingerprint was on the rifle used in the slaying. The defense, however, aruged that the rifle was stolen from Beckwith prior to Evers death.

Family Touch Added To Club

A family touch has been added to the San Rafael chapter of the Horseless Carriage Club of America.

In recent ceremonies, Richard E. Harms was installed as club president and his wife, Diane, as secretary-treasurer. The couple reside in Kentfield.

Other officers sworn in were Ralph B. Priestly, vice president; Ed Tennler, tour chairman, and Elliott Bortfeld, tour coordiantor.

Council Approved Garbage Rate Hike

The Independent-Journal incorrectly reported Friday that Mill Valley Refuse Service Co. had raised rates in Mill Valley by 15 cents last April without city permission.

The increase was granted by the city council on an interim basis until October, when it became permanent.

Boundary Line Policy Before School Group

The Marin County Committee on School District Organization will consider tomorrow night a change in Sausalito and Mill Valley school district boundary lines in Tennessee Valley.

The change would avoid a conflict of property along the Tennessee Valley Road if the area were developed. Both the Sausalito and Mill Valley districts have approved the switch.

The committee session will begin at 8 p.m. in the county schools' office in Corte Madera.

Robert H. Prather, principal of Tamalpais High School, will present the first in a series of reports by high school principals on curricula at their schools.

We'd ask you to compare it . . . but with what?

Comparing a Cadillac has always been a problem, for the car has long been clearly in a class of its own. In 1967, the challenge is even greater . . . because Cadillac has never before asserted its leadership so convincingly.

Start with beauty. Cast about for a luxury car contender that can list such styling advancements as Cadillac's dramatic new roof line, its forward sweeping front design and its graceful and flowing side contours. Then consider that there are eleven exciting examples of this kind of Cadillac beauty... as well as the totally new Eldorado, the world's finest personal car!

Consider also the incomparable newness of Cadillac's beautiful interiors and their unexcelled safety and convenience. There are passenger-guard door locks, a hazard warning system, a dual circuit braking system, latches that hold folding front seats securely in place and dozens of other safety features.

And, of course, there's performance. There's nothing else smoother than Cadillac's V-8 power; nothing else easier than Cadillac's improved variable ratio power steering; nothing else surer or steadier on the highway.

Visit your authorized dealer and measure Cadillac against your own motoring requirements. It's the only valid comparison test for the Standard of the World.

Track War Continues; Both Sides Claim Innocence

NEW YORK (AP) — Two Villanova athletes say they have been threatened with the loss of their scholarships and at least three foreign athletes have been barred from the New York Athletic Club games this Friday in the latest flare-up of the war between the AAU and NCAA.

Practically everyone pleads innocence. The athletes are mystified, worried and angry.

It's an old, old story, this fight between the Amateur Athletic Union and the National Collegiate Athletic Association over control of the United States' track and field forces.

It may be settled soon. Theodore Kheel, a New York attorney who was appointed by Vice President Humphrey to head a panel mediating the dispute, said late last night that "we have something to say Tuesday."

He did not elaborate.

In the meantime, the fight goes on.

The latest episode involves the national indoor championships of the U.S. Track and Field Federation — an arm of the NCAA — in New York last Friday. The AAU did not sanction the meet, and the USTFF did not request one.

So Chris Papanicolaou, a Greek pole vaulter now attending San Jose State, competed in the Federation meet, then was barred from the AAU-sanctioned Los Angeles Times meet last Saturday.

Papanicolaou was not scheduled to compete in New York this week, but three athletes who were scheduled, have been barred. They are Ian Hamilton of Villanova and Benedict Cayenne and Carver King of Maryland State. Hamilton is from Ireland, Cayenne and King from Trinidad. Frank Murphy, another Irish student at Villanova, also is on the black list.

Hamilton and Murphy said last night they were threatened with the loss of their scholarships if they did not run in the USTFF meet last week.

"We were told by Mr. Elliott (Villanova coach Jumbo Elliott) two hours before the meet that if we didn't run, our scholarships would expire this summer," Hamilton said.

"In other words, we were threatened," said Murphy.

"The only thing perhaps is that I told them they were under a track grant and that Villanova belonged to the U.S. Track and Field Federation," Elliott said.

"There's been some misunderstanding," said Villanova Athletic Director Art Mahan. "We just don't do things like taking away a scholarship."

The NCAA contends that a moratorium, constraining both sides to refrain from exclusive actions, still exists. The AAU does not agree.

"This (barring of athletes from meets) is a regretful action on our part," said Col. Don Hull, executive director of the AAU. "We did our best to get the meet sanctioned. "We cannot understand why they did not ask for it."

In Kansas City, Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA, said that "the AAU threat of suspension is a direct violation of the U.S. Senate moratorium resolution, a restrain on competition. The threats are an outright power play by the AAU."

Time For Baseball Talk Between Scout And Execs

This is the time of the year when comes a change in the sports occupation that's known as The Children's Hour (with respects to H. W. Longfellow).

THE TEAMS ARE poised on the trek southward, the baseball calliope is revved up, and this is the Hour of the Scout, the time when the execs call in the grizzled old ivory hunter, the ore man, and szay, "O.K., who's good among the kids? Who do we take South?"

Time was when the scout, with a spit of tobacco, might answer carefully. No more. Today, his stock-in-trade is enthusiasm, unbridled optimism.

YOU SEE, THE lore of baseball is littered with the great mistakes of the scouts who got the first guess and muffed it, the three-base errors of the front office. Baseball journalists like nothing better than to dredge up these bobbles and replay them. Like the scout who said of Mickey Mantle, "Can't hit the fast ball," or the one who said of Mays, "Doesn't have a major league arm," or the one who predicted of Warren Spahn, "May never get the ball over the plate."

THE MODERN SCOUT is too crafty for that. He knows that only the comptroller will remember that the kid the club shelled out 100 grand for set records only in the hotel bar, or that the "Can't Miss" kid turned out to be a "Can't Hit" kid. If you say a kid is good and he isn't HE lets you down. If you say he's bad and he isn't, YOU let you down. To say nothing of the club.

Accordingly, the present day manager knows enough to divide by 11 when he gets a rundown on players who have tickled the ivory hunters. First, is what they will say, followed by what he knows it means:

"HE MAKES KOUFAX look like he was throwing soap bubbles." (He has the fast ball that gets there just faster than it would with a stamp on it.)

"His change-up is so slow you could sell advertising on it." (It only looks slow next to his fast ball which was overtaken by a moth one night.)

"ALL HE NEEDS IS to work on his control." (I wouldn't say he's wild, but if he DROPPED a ball, it might not hit the ground. He wears out two backstops a year, and I don't mean catchers. The catcher doesn't need a glove to catch him, he needs a motorcycle. He can't throw a spitter because he can't hit the ball with it.)

"He has all the tools." (And a good thing, too, because he's a plumber.)

"HE WILL MAKE the double-play for you." (I've seen him run and that's what I'm afraid of.)

"He's got new glasses this year." (What's the matter, get tired of drinking out of bottles?)

"He was only 2-and-11 at Albuquerque last year but he says he was sick most of the time." (That's the first time I've ever heard of dandruff hurting a guy's fastball, because our reports show that was the only thing wrong with him physically. He might have suffered from insomnia, too, though, because our reports show he never could get to sleep 'til 7 in the morning. Mainly because he never went to bed until then.)

"HE CAN'T HIT, run, field, or throw, but he'll beat you." (That's what I'm afraid of. If he can't hit, run, field, or throw, let him sign on with someone else and beat them.)

"He'll saw the bats right in half on those hitters." (From what I have seen of his fast one, that's the only way he can keep the ball in the park. It's been so long since he got anything past the bat I thought he was aiming at them.)

"He broke the seats in Amarillo last year." (And if he gets any fatter, he'll break the dugout bench.)

"HE CAN BEAT you with the glove." (Oh, THAT explains his batting average. I didn't think he could be using a bat.)

"He can hit .350 with his eyes closed." (But he can't field .250 with them open.)

"He's better than anybody you got on your team right now." (Good Lord, can't you think of anything GOOD to say about him?)

Patterson In Easy Win Over Obscure Heavyweight Foe

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Floyd Patterson is an aging boy-wonder with a good left hand and a chin that occasionally succumbs to outrageous fortune.

Patterson's left outranked his chin at Miami Beach Auditorium last night as he connected in the third round and laid out little known and even less regarded Willie Johnson of Miami. Johnson, who took a 12-10-1 record into the ring, landed one respectable punch before he exited with 2:05 gone in the third round.

But Patterson wasn't carried away by his performance.

"I don't think I deserve a shot at (champion Cassius) Clay yet," he told a reporter after the fight. Instead he said he planned to fight Thad Spencer either in Stockholm or California.

REMATCH

Patterson said that a Japanese promoter had attempted to arrange a rematch with Clay but that Clay had refused. "I hear that he will fight Zora Foley next," Patterson said.

The victory was Patterson's 45th in 50 fights and his second since bowing to Clay in 12 rounds last year in Las Vegas, Nev.

Patterson weighed 196 last night and was a half-second slower than a decade before when he defeated Archie Moore for the title left vacant by Rocky Marciano's retirement.

Once the fight game's youngest heavyweight champion and the only fighter to regain the heavyweight title, Patterson has spent more than a few seconds on the canvas since his victory over Moore.

Patterson lost two quick fights to Liston and then dropped the 12-rounder to Clay. After the Clay fight he said he had suffered a wrenched back and had not been at full mobility.

Patterson's mobility looked fine last night, and he displayed championship form in dispatching of the overclassed Johnson.

PACKED HOUSE

A packed house of 3,500 fans watched Patterson take out Johnson, whose white trunks and shoes were spattered with blood from a cut Patterson opened in the second round.

Patterson concentrated on the gash early in the final round and suddenly switched to the head with the sweeping left hook. Johnson fell backwards through the ropes, crawled back through, and was still sprawled on his stomach when referee Cy Gottfried had finished his count.

Patterson said he was stunned briefly in the first round when Johnson caught him with a right as he moved in. But Floyd's nostalgic peek-a-boo defense prevailed throughout the remainder of the brief contest, and Johnson spent the larger part of the third round employing unsuccessful evasive actions.

Patterson graciously submitted to the usual questioning and pummelling by well wishers in his dressing room, but it was obvious that the thrill of winning had long since died.

Asked when he felt he would be the number one contender," Patterson said:

"I don't know. A few more fights. . .if I keep on winning."

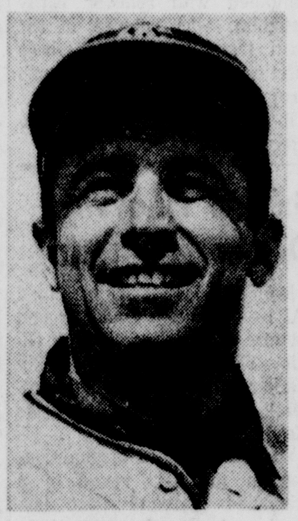
Little Albie Pearson Retires From Baseball

RIVERSIDE (AP)—"My career was just adequate at best. There are a lot of us that retire everyday, and we have to go out and look for jobs."

So said modest 5-foot-5 Albie Pearson, the darling of California Angels baseball fans, who announced his retirement from baseball yesterday because of a back injury.

Pearson's "adequate" career included selections as American League Rookie of the Year in 1958, as American League all-star centerfielder in 1963 and three years of leading the Angels in batting.

The cause of the retirement is a deteriorated spinal disc which put the 31-year-old Pearson in the hospital for 36 days at the beginning of last season.



ALBIE PEARSON
Leaves baseball

The disc causes Pearson little discomfort during normal activity, but "the only thing I can't do is do the thing I've done all my life, and that's play baseball," he said at his Riverside home.

Midge, as his teammates called him, has long been active in youth work and participates in the Youth for Christ organization along with such athletes as Bob Richardson, Don Shinnick, Raymond Berry, Fran Tarkenton and Felipe Alou.

"We feel we have a purpose in life," Pearson said of the group. "These young people are being bartered for on every media known to man. I'd like to show them what life's all about, spiritually speaking."

Albie conceded it's tough to support a wife and four daughters that way, but said, "There's always a way out."

Critchfield, Swagerty Get A-A Votes

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Russ Critchfield, California's playmaker, and Keith Swagerty who sets the pace for University of the Pacific, were named the outstanding players of the area by the Northern California Basketball Writers and Sportscasters Association.

Critchfield, who stands but 5 feet 10 inches in this day of towering cagers, has scored 328 points in 16 games and is second in Pacific-8 scoring to UCLA's Lew Alcindor who stands 7-1.

Swagerty has averaged 19.4 with 369 points and leads the Pacific Tigers in rebounds with 349. Standing 6-7 and weighing 235, he more resembled the current image of an all-star basketball player than Critchfield.

The Northern California writers and broadcasters urged All America consideration for both.

Swagerty also was named player-of-the-week after UOP whipped UC Santa Barbara 84-71 and San Jose State 107-60 last weekend. The UOP star scored a total of 50 points in the pair and grabbed 55 rebounds.

UOP stands 7-0 in the West Coast Athletic Conference and 17-3 overall.

The University of San Francisco presses the Tigers in the conference with a 6-1 mark. Coach Phil Vukichevich of the Dons told the writers and sportscasters that Don Snyder's play was instrumental in victories over Pepperdine and Loyola last weekend.

In games against the Los Angeles schools, the Dons won 79-73 and 59-54, the latter providing undisputed possession of second place.

Snyder scored 42 points in the weekend action, hitting 17 of 27 shots from the floor and eight of 10 free throws. He held his combined opposition to 15 points.

U.S. Sets Boxing Matches

NEW YORK (AP) — A series of international team boxing matches aimed at improving the United States showing in the 1968 Olympics has been scheduled between U.S. amateurs and the Mexican Olympic squad.

Col. Don Hull, executive director of the Amateur Athletic Union, announced yesterday the first of the three matches will be between the Northern California AAU champions and the Mexico team Feb. 25 in San Francisco.

A team drawn from throughout the United States will play the host March 1 in Las Vegas, Nev., and the amateur champions of Texas will represent the United States March 6 in Houston.

"We are now putting together a squad of 40 and we will follow the Mexican matches with trips abroad," Col. Hull said. "We're planning to go to Italy, Germany and England. We also envision a match here soon with Japan and later with the Russians."

Revitalized Tars Go Against Napa Quintet Tonight

The College of Marin basketball Tars, revitalized after an 80-75 overtime victory over previously undefeated Sierra of the Eastern Division, travel to Napa for a Western Division scrap against third-place Napa Junior College in the Golden Valley Conference at 8 tonight.

With only three more games to play, the Tars, who now own an 8-3 record, seem assured of the Eastern Division regular season title or at least have a solid foothold on it.

Coach Cal Riemcke will again throw a squad of four double-figure scorers against Napa, 3-6, in Eastern Division play. Bill Pandiani, who scored 32 points against Sierra, leads with a 16.9 average. Also scoring in double figures are Terry Overlid, Bob Phillips and Russ Smith.

The Napa clash is the first part of a home-and-home doubleheader to be wound up Friday night in Kentfield at 8 o'clock.

Jim David Quits 49ers For Lions

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Jim David, defensive backfield coach with the San Francisco 49ers since 1964, will be in Detroit next season, coching his old team, the Lions.

David, who played defensive back with the Lions for eight years, has resigned to return to Detroit and aid new coach Joe Schmidt, the 49ers announced yesterday.

He will be in charge of over-all defense at Detroit.

Schmidt asked 49er coach Jack Christiansen's permission to negotiate with David. The three were once teammates at Detroit.

"I hate to lose him from our staff," Christiansen said, "but he will do a good job for Joe, as he has done for us, and I wish him well."

Lou Spadia, general manager of the 49ers, said a replacement will be named as soon as possible.

California Sloop Ahead In Florida

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) —Thirty-knot winds and seas of eight to 10 feet battered the remainder of the fleet today as the smaller boats in the St. Petersburg to Fort Lauderdale yacht race struggled home.

At least two yachts were dismasted, two reported rigging trouble, one was disabled and asked for a Coast Guard tow. Another was aground for a while.

None of the boats was in danger of sinking.

A big 66-foot sloop, Chubasco, looke dlike a good bet to win the 370-mile grind around the bottom of the Florida Peninsula.

Chubasco, skippered by A.D. Haskell out of Newport Beach, Calif., crossed the finish line last night. Her corrected time of 54 hours, 2 minutes and 11 seconds beat all the bigger boats, and only some of the smaller craft with big time allowances stood a chance.

The apparent second place boat was Red Jacket, who won last week's slow-paced St. Petersburg to Venice race, opener in the Southern Ocean Racing Conference season. Adjusted time on Red Jacket, a 40-foot sloop out of Port Credit, Ont., was 54:31.53.

The bad weather dismasted the 48-foot sloop Yankee Girl out of Charleston, S.C., and the 50-foot sloop Robin out of Marblehead, Mass.

Warriors Vs. Celts In Oakland

OAKLAND (UPI) — The San Francisco Warriors, caught not only in a four - game losing streak but a minor hassel with the Oakland Arena officials, meet the Boston Celtics tonight for what could be the last time on the East Bay floor.

"This will be the final game of the season to be played in the new Oakland arena," a team spokesman said in a prepared statement." If the controversy between the Warriors and the Arena-ABC Association continues, it could be the last time the Warriors play on the Oakland Arena hardwoods."

The rumble dates back a couple of weeks when the Oakland group said it expected to have a busy time filling dates for its new American Basketball Association franchise and the Warriors who play "home games" not only in San Francisco but Oakland, Fresno, Sacramento and Phoenix.

The club took yesterday off after bowing to the Detroit Pistons, 134-127, Sunday for its fourth straight setback. Rick Barry swished in 49 points for the losers but they still don't function properly now that center Nate Thurmond is out for six to eight weeks with a broken left hand.

Another Warrior, guard Jim King, may return to the lineup tonight after being out for three weeks with an injured thigh. He has told coach Bill Sharman, however, that he does not expect to be in top physical shape because of the protracted layoff.

Thurmond sustained the fractured hand against Boston Feb. 10 in the last meeting between the clubs. He was hurt during a scramble for the ball with Tom Sanders. Sanders later killed the warriors with a hook shot which beat them, 137-136, in double overtime.

Boston has a 22-3 record going against San Francisco for the past three seasons.

AFL Plans To Expand To 10 Teams

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The American Football League will expand to 10 teams by June, and Cincinnati reportedly has the inside track for the next franchise. League owners meeting here also have discussed moving the annual Super Bowl game to Miami.

Cincinnati, Birmingham, Ala., Seattle, Wash., and Phoenix, Ariz., were cities mentioned most prominently to become the league's 10th team. The owners also gave President Milt Woodard a three-year contract yesterday.

Woodard's salary was not disclosed, but the contract would keep him in office until the merger of the AFL with the National Football League is completed in 1970.

In other business, the owners voted to open the upcoming season a week later than usual in order to avoid baseball scheduling conflicts at parks where the games will be played. The season will end Dec. 24.

Many owners were concerned about the relatively poor turnout at the initial Super Bowl game at Los Angeles. Only 63,036 fans turned out for the game in the mammouth 100,000-seat Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle was present as the owners discussed the possibility of moving the Super Bowl game to Miami where the Orange Bowl is being expanded to seat 75,000.

Jack Steadman, general manager of the Kansas City Chiefs, said the Los Angeles fans adopted a rebellious attitude toward the game because of a local blackout.

The owners later turned their attention to a combined draft. Woodard said they cannot set a date until the NFL examines the recommendations in a Honolulu meeting. He said the draft will be held in New York as soon as possible after the NFL session.

Woodard added there was strong sentiment among the players for an AFL-NFL All-Star game next January to replace the present arrangement of separate league All-Star contests.

London To Train

$5,000 CUT IN PAY

Drysdale Signs Contract

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Durable Don Drysdale's getting a running start at the 1967 baseball season, feels fit and thinks the Los Angeles Dodgers will repeat as National League champions.

The 6-foot-6 righthander signed his new contract yesterday for what he and Dodger officials said was for an income in six figures. It was reported at $105,000 or a $5,000 cut from his 1966 pact.

The 11-year Dodger veteran, together with Sandy Koufax, held out in contract negotiations last year until March 30. Drysdale finally got $110,000 and Koufax settled for $125,000. Swift Sandy, 27-game winner last season, has now retired because of an arthritic elbow.

Overweight and undertrained. Drysdale got off to a poor start last season and finished with a 13-16 record. His late-season performances were impressive, though, and were instrumental in bringing the Dodgers the National League pennant.

"I lost 10 or 12 pounds this winter and I feel real good," Big D said yesterday. "I've been working quite a bit around my (San Fernando Valley) place and mainly watching my weight."

The Dodgers depart for their Vero Beach, Fla., spring training around Feb. 25. The group will look different from last year's. The fabled Koufax is gone, Maury Wills has been traded and the new faces include Bob Bailey, Jim Hickman, Ron Hunt, Bob Lee and Gene Michael.

"I think we've got a good chance," said Drysdale.

"I think we're stronger hitting, stronger as far as defense goes and I think the main thing is to figure out how to pick up some games between two or three guys now that Sandy has left. Other than that, I think we're stronge than we've been in three or four years."

Drysdale said "with any luck, Claude Osteen can win 20, and so can Don Sutton if his arm is okay."

Osteen is one of seven Dodgers who haven't signed yet.

Jim Maloney Signs Pact

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pitcher Jim Maloney, who was a holdout for a month last year, has signed his 1967 contract with the Cincinnati Reds, 10 days before spring training begins, General Manager Robert Howsam said today.

Salary terms are not released, but it was reported the fireballing right-hander will get the same as he did last year, around $46,000.

Maloney missed nearly all of spring training last year in holding out for a $50,000 salary. The $46,000 he received, however, made him the highest paid Cincinnati pitcher ever.

He finished 1966 with a 16-8 record, tops for the Reds' pitching staff, although he was plagued with arm trouble much of the season. In 1965, Maloney was 20-9, his second season of 20 victories or more.

Maloney, 26, is the 12th Red to sign for 1967. He mailed in his contract from his Fresno home and told the club he was "pleased and happy to come to terms, and I'm looking forward to having a fine year."

Maloney joined the Reds in 1960 and has been one of the top pitchers in the National League. He pitched two 10-inning no-hitters in 1965, losing one of them in the 11th inning.

The loss was 1-0 to the New York Mets when Johnny Lewis homered in the 11th inning, and Maloney finished with a two-hitter for 11 frames.

His no-hit victory was 1-0 against the Chicago Cubs on a 10th inning homer by shortstop Leo Cardenas.

Maloney's best record was 1963 when he was 23-7 and struck out 265 batters for a Cincinnati record. In his major league career, all with the Reds, he has won 91 games and lost 54. He has struck out 1,149 batters in 1,220 innings.

Hamilton Wins Cage Opener

The 10th Air Force and Fourth Air Force teams won the first day's action at the Air Defense Command Basketball Tournament at Hamilton Field yesterday.

The 10th Air Force team from Ent Air Force Base, Colo., managed to win over the 14th Air Force team from West Mesa Air Force Station, N.M., 105-94.

The lead see-sawed through the first half and at half-time the score was tied at 51-51. Thomas Mattocks of 14th Air Force was game high scorer with 29 points. Tenth Air Force was led by Robert Holiuay with 28 and Clem Sanders had 26.

Hamilton Defenders, representing Fourth Air Force, had no trouble as they rolled over the First Air Force team from Selfridge Air Force Base, Mich., 114-79.

Hamilton's Bob Yates won individual scoring honors with 28 points. He was followed closely by teammate Dan Woods with 24. Samuel Williams led First Air Force with 18.

Unbeaten UCLA, the only other team in the Top Ten to emerge without a loss last week-end, remained the poll's unchallenged leader. The Bruins, 19-0, were the unanimous choices for first place fo rthe fifth straight week.

Vanderbilt, a top contender in the Southeastern Conference and Syracuse, 17-2, including 10 straight victories in its most recent games, are the newest members of the first 10. They replaced Providence and Boston College, two among the five ranking teams which were beaten in weekend games.

The Bruins, victors over Oregon State 76-44 and Oregon 100-66, collected all 32 votes for the No. 1 position in the latest balloting by sports writers and broadcasters based on games through last Saturday.

Fremont Policemen Win Pistol Matches

Fremont policemen registered all but two of a possible 1,000 points to win the sixth annual H. O. Peters Memorial California State Pistol Match held last Saturday at San Rafael's Pistol Range, Francisco Blvd.

The championships were viewed by a crowd estimated at 350 as the .38-caliber wielding marksmen fired from 60 to 70 yards behind their targets (life-sized replicas of a man with a circle designating the bullseye). They were required to fire both right and left-handed and from different positions.

The four-man Fremont squad was awarded the perpetual trophy after racking up 164 "X's", meaning that its competitors were dead-center 164 out of 166 shots.

The "X" value is used to decide ties. For example, Stockton Police, with 988 points and 163 "X's" finished second in the state-wide rankings.

Stockton's second-line squad shot a 997 for third place; Marin County Sheriff's Department notched fourth with 994 points, 151 X's; Fairfield's Police squad was fifth, 993.

Thus Marin County Sheriff's shooters were first on a county-wide basis; its No. 2 team was second, 963; the Corte Madera office of California Highway Patral was third at 962; and San Quentin's aggregation, 961, finished fourth in the razor-sharp competition.

The top gun in the state was Jim Cadle of the Tracy Police team. He totaled a maximum 250 points, finding the circle 43 times.

Individual Marin County winners were Ed Levine of San Rafael's Sheriff's Office 249 points and teammate Bob Gaddini, 249; Bob BeGrazia, Novato Police Chief was fourth, 247; E. B. Ready had 246 for fifth, and Ken Homen of San Rafael Police was sixth at 245.

Policewoman Jaeanne Wade won the Women's trophy. Mrs. Wade was the only female entrant.

The matches were organized by San Rafael officers John Riordan and Bert Stinson.

Litchfield's Wins 'Must' Game, 11-2

Litchfield's of San Rafael semi-pro baseball team notched one of five "must win" ball games left on its schedule Sunday, thanks largely to a fellow who returned to the line-up foldue to matrimony.

Doug Wilson, top slugger for the Litchfield nine before his forced departure, came back with a perfect day in three trips to the plate, a stolen base and five big RBI's to spark Marin to an 11-2 rout over Chops of San Bruno at Golden Gate Park's Nealon diamond.

Dave Barni contributed to a 15-hit barrage with two singles and a double while Jerry Bosch went two for two, including a triple.

Starting pitcher Ron Cole, combined with reliever Elray Laughlin, who entered in the sixth frame, to scatter three safeties. Cole won his fourth straight without a loss.

It was the defending champions ninth league triumph.

British Heavy Drives For Title

MANCHESTER, England (AP) — Bouyed by a one-round victory over Italian veteran Giulio Rinaldi, Britain's Billy Walker is stepping up his campaign for a shot at Cassius Clay's heavyweight title.

Walker won on a disqualification in the first round of a scheduled 10-round bout last night and earned a title fight with West Germany's Karl Mildenberger, the European heavyweight king. If he gets by Mildenberger, the 27-year-old Briton wants to take on Clay.

Referee Harry Warner disqualified Rinaldi, 32, for butting after Walker jolted him with a hard right. The Italian tied up Walker for the remainder of the round.

Stanford, Cal Lose Road Tilts In Washington

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Washington State and Washington hosted a pair of Pacific Eight Conference visitors from California last night and enjoyed every minute of it.

The Cougars tightened their hold on second place in the conference standings by defeating California, 75-67, and the Huskies won their fifth game in a row by beating Stanford 79-73.

Washington State jumped into the lead in the opening moments and led the Bears all the way, as all five Cougar starters scored in double figures. Jim McKean was high with 16, but over-all scoring honors went to Rich Critchfield of Cal with 24.

The Huskies trailed Stanford by eight points with 11 minutes to go and then roared back to take command. The Washington victory, led by Gordy Harris with 21 points, offset a 33-point effort by Indian guard Don Griffin.

Washington State is now 5-2 in conference play, led only by the apparently unbeatable UCLA Bruins at 7-0. Washington (3-4) jumped into fifth place over USC and Cal (2-4), and Stanford is even-up (3-3).

Tar Swimmers Get Dunked

College of Marin's small seven-man swim team got its feet wet last week. In fact, it got submerged.

The Tars met powerful Santa Ana Junior College in their season opener at Kentfield last week and failed to win a single event outright in a 81-22 dunking.

However, Dennis Good, frosh swimmer from Tamalpais, tied for first in the 200-yard backstroke in a good early-season time of 2:17.3, while Pete Brinkenhoff took second in the new 1,000-meter event in two performances that pleased coach Bill Justice.

The Tars' next meet is also at home against San Jose City College Friday.

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS
I-J Fish and Game Writer

Prospects Aren't Encouraging For Norcal Steelhead Fishing

STEVENS

With only a fortnight left of the winter steelhead season, I was hoping to have some good news to pass along today, but prospects don't look very encouraging as of this writing. The Sacramento is still muddy, but is gradually clearing and lowering, according to Ralph's Steelhead Lodge at the River Bridge at Colusa. I suggest you wait another two days at least and then, if no rains in the meantime, give Ralph's Lodge a call.

From the Happy Camp sector of the Klamath comes the news that prospects range from fair to good above Happy Camp upstream to the Iron Gate Dam, but no good below, clear to the mouth.

REGARDING THE coastal streams to the north of the Golden Gate, word from Grant King of King's Tackle Shop at Guerneville becomes a challenge. The Russian is fishable, but not many fish are being caught. One lone angler who features fly fishing continues to take steelies on flies, but the general production has been slow. If no more rain, chances certainly should be good for a grandstand finish to the season.

THE GUALALA BAR is open and many rabid anglers are trying hard to reduce the steelhead population, but hardly anything worth mentioning — that in spite of some glowing reports appearing in other papers. The same conditions prevail in most streams north of the Gualala . . . streams fishable but very few fish showing up. Some fish have been taken in the Garcia, but I repeat, not many.

An unverified report indicates the Smith River near the Oregon line is on a par with the local streams — high water, muddy, and almost non-productive. So much for steelhead prospects as of now. Should we be victims of a series of rainy days from now on, the winter steelhead picture will remain cloudy. So let's pull for continued dry weather.

TAKING A BRIEF look at the local picture, I talked with Buck Edding of Buck's Landing on Sunday. Buck mentioned the catch of Maggie Mellow of a 100-pound sturgeon caught out of his place at Santa Venetia, and gave honorable mention to Ben M. Akikawa who landed the heftiest striper to head Buck's bass derby, a 32-pounder.

"About 25 bass came in during the week, Ralph," reported Edding. "Mostly taken in the area from the Shell Banks to the S.P. Buoy." Also reported from all resorts from the San Pablo Harbor to the Carquinez Bridge at Crockett, was good flounder fishing, with most of the flatties falling for cut sardine baits, but some fancied grass shrimp.

DOWRELIO'S ALLAN reported fishing for both sturgeon and stripers slow, but quite a few flounders came in. Prospects in the upper San Pablo Bay, the mouth of the Napa, the Carquinez Strait and the Suisun Bay should improve almost daily with both the Sacramento and the San Joaquin rivers lowering and clearing.

Entry Deadline March 6 For Family Net Tourney

Deadline for entries in the California State Family Doubles Championships, to be held at the Belvedere Tennis Club March 11-12 and 18-19, is Tuesday, March 6.

This marks the second year the four-day tourney has been staged in Marin County and the entry list is expected to exceed 73 teams to make for stiff competition.

Entry blanks may be obtained from Belvedere club professional Paul Wilkins, Box 515, Belvedere.

Last year's winners were: Tom and Marlene Muench in the husband-wife pairing; Joe and Jim Woolfson, father-son pairing; Babs and Erik Van Dillen, mother-son; Norman and Diane Brooks, father-daughter; Margaret Wedertz and Joan Huggins, mother-daughter pairing.

These same events, in addition to two others—brother-sister and grandparent-grandchild—comprise this year's slate. The latter two events have not previously been held in a sanctioned tournament.

Three Marin Vehicles In Auto Show

Three unique Marin County vehicles will be exhibited during the 19th annual Grand National Roadster Show that opens Friday in the new Oakland Coliseum.

Two entries are by Frank A. Volta of San Rafael while the third is by Richard Harms of Kentfield, according to show manager-producer Al Slonaker.

Nearly 200 hand-built entries including hot rods, custom cars, sports vehicles, dragsters, experimental "dream cars," motorcycles and powerboats will seek laurels during the nationally-known Oakland auto event.

Show doors in the Coliseum's Exhibit Hall will be open from 6 to 10 p.m. weekdays and from 1 to 10 p.m. Saturdays, Sundays and Feb. 22, Washington's Birthday, Slonaker continued.

Volta, 49, a claims adjuster of 5 La Crescenta Way, San Rafael, will display both a customized kart and a hand-crafted mini-cycle.

Custom features on Volta's go-kart include a fiberglass body set up on an extended chassis, a six horsepower engine that will hit 60-m.p.h., twin exhausts and a rear section that swings up for access to the engine area. It is painted metallic Fountain Green.

Volsa's mini-cycle, which took four months to build, features a chromed frame, a "flea" tank, a home-made muffler and a five and a half horsepower engine with a 43-m.p.h. speed.

Harm's entry is an antique motorcycle restored from a 1915 Harley-Davidson model which features the original side-car The unique Kentfield entry is powered by a seven horsepower engine.

Grant Vs. Clark In Oakland Bout

OAKLAND (UPI) — Young Steve Grant, unbeaten in 10 pro fights, meets Henry Clark, the California state heavyweight champion, in a non-title 10-round bout at the Oakland Coliseum tonight.

Grant, who has had trouble trying to land top-rated opponents, boasts victories over Emil Umek of Germany and Bobby Stintinato, the current California light heavyweight champion.

Clark, who has a 16-3 record, won the California title a month ago in Sacramento when he beat Bill McMurry. Two months before that fight, he went 10 rounds with Zora Folley, heavyweight champion Cassius Clay's next opponent, and dropped a close decision.

Ridiculous? Not at all!

In no time at all he will be graduating from college. And it's not a day too soon to be making sure that adequate funds will be available when they are needed. ALMANAC

Today is Tuseday, Feb. 14, the 45th day of 1967 with 320 to follow. Today is Valentine's Day.

The moon is in its new phase. The morning stars are Jupiter and Mars. The evening stars are Saturn, Jupiter, Venus and Mercury.

Benny Kubelsky was born on this day in 1894. He is better known as Jack Benny.

On this day in history:

In 1859, Oregon became the 33rd state.

In 1903, President Theodore Roosevelt enacted into law the Department of Commerce and Labor with George Cortelyon its first secretary.

In 1933, Gov. W. A. Comstock of Michigan ordered an eight-day bank holiday to check a financial panic and $50-million was rushed to Detroit to bolster banking assets.

In 1945, thousands of allied planes staged a devastating air raid on Dresden, Germany.

A though for the day—Scottish poet Robert Burns once said: "But to see her was to love her, love but her, and then forever."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

Real Estate Training Pays Off For The Clever Player

"Playing that hand was just like spending an afternoon in the real estate business," Lawrence Block remarked after making four hearts with the hand shown today.

Fair exchange, apparently, is the heart of Block's real estate business in Beverly Hills.

East overtook the opening lead with the ace of diamonds to return a diamond.

West won with the eight and continued with the queen of diamonds.

POSSIBLE TO ERR

This play gave Block a chance to go wrong.

If he ruffed the third diamond in dummy, East would overruff and get out safely with a trump. Sooner or later, East would get the setting trick with the queen of clubs.

Instead of ruffing the third diamond, Block shrewdly discarded a low club from dummy.

This was a very profitable exchange since it gave the defenders a diamond trick which they were sure to win anyway and deprived them of a club trick.

SPADE SWITCH

At the fourth trick West switched to spades.

Declarer won in dummy with the ace, drew three rounds of trumps, and cashed the king and jack of spades to discard a second low club from dummy.

He could then cash the top clubs, and dummy's trumps took the rest.

"Very businesslike," North commented.

"You couldn't win that third diamond trick even if you stood on your head, so you conceded it and got something valuable in the exchange. No wonder you real estate men look so well fed."

"I don't do these things for myself," Block assured him.

"I always have a client.

In this case you were the dummy, and I made the hand just for your sake."

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one no-trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ 9 6 4 3
♥ 7
♦ K Q 10 9 8 2
♣ 8 2

ANSWER: Bid two diamonds. Game is unlikely even if partner has maximum strength of 18 points.

There is nothing sinful about taking a small profit in a comfortable part-score contract.

Judge Stickler On Right Terms

RATON, N.M. (AP) — Dist. Court Judge C. R. McIntosh is a stickler for precise language when he's in court.

Recently, he declined to hear a drunken driving case because the charge against the man read "DWI" (driving while intoxicated).

"For all I know," the jurist declared, "DWI might mean dancing with Irma."

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Investor, 24, Needs An Assured Growth

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "I am 24 years old and single, with no dependents. I have money to invest and would like your suggestions. At present I am interested in Avon Products, Bristol-Meyers, American Hospital Supply and Safeway Stores. Do these stocks offer a potential for continued growth? Are they right for my particular circumstances? Should I invest in just one issue or put money into several?" T. L.

A. I congratulate you on your good judgment. All your selections are stocks of good quality with a potential for continued growth. In your circumstances, you should hold only stocks with a record of strongly rising earnings, which can be reasonably projected into the future.

The first three issues you mention fall into this category. Safeway is a sound issue, but like other good food chains its growth may slow down because of severe competition and rising costs. I advise replacing this with Consolidated Foods. Never keep all your money in a single stock where an unfavorable development could seriously deplete your capital. You should build up to around ten issues and spread the risk which all stocks carry.

Q. "We bought Hallicrafters, which merged with Northrop. We received one share of Northrop cumulative preferred stock for each 5.6 shares of Hallicrafters. We previously held only common stocks and don't know what cumulative means. Would you explain and should we hold or sell?" J. P.

A. "Cumulative" simply means that any dividends not paid when due must be added to future payments before anything is received by the common stock holders. Your new stock is exchangeable for Northrop common, beginning in 1970, at a ratio determined by the average closing price of the common for ten days prior to conversion. The minimum conversion price is $34 and the maximum $45 for a period of five years from issuance date. Your preferred stock currently yields 4½ per cent, and the conversion privilege has potential value. I advise you to hold your new shares.

A 'SOUP BOWL' TO SEE WITH

This huge "soup bowl" aluminum casting, produced at the Aluminum Co. of America's Cleveland, Ohio, works, will be used to test components required for a new 150-inch telescope to be installed at the Kitt Peak National Observatory near Tucson, Ariz. The part, cast with a slightly concave surface, will be machined, plated and polished — a year-long task — to form a 100-inch diameter mirror. The casting is 22 inches thick and weighs approximately 7,600 pounds.

Unjust Attempt To Raid Gate Bridge Reserves

Whenever a public entity begins to accumulate a surplus of funds, you can bet that politicians will lose no time finding a way to raid the nest egg for political advantage.

The Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District has methodically accumulated surpluses of the toll payers' money to meet future bond interest and redemption requirements. The bridge directors now appear to be the victims of the good management which has made this surplus possible.

Assemblyman John F. Foran, D-San Francisco, has introduced a bill to raid the toll payers' surplus and funnel it into the state highway construction program. We cannot imagine anything more unjust.

The toll payers are already double-taxed. They are taxed at the toll gates every time they cross the Golden Gate Bridge. At the same time, every ounce of gasoline they use crossing the span is heavily taxed.

The gasoline tax is supposed to pay for state highways over which we drive. The gasoline taxes do not go toward the cost of maintaining the Golden Gate Bridge. Although the Golden Gate Bridge is in the state highway system, it is one strip of the state highway system that is not financed by gasoline taxes. Toll payers pay, not only the interest and bond retirement for the original construction of the span, but also must unjustly pay for its maintenance.

It is difficult to conceive of a bill that is as discriminatory and unjust toward the bridge users as the Foran measure. A fair and just proposal would be for the State Highway Commission to allocate gas tax funds toward the maintenance of the bridge as a part of the state highway system.

This would give toll payers their money's worth for the taxes they pay on fuel they use to cross the bridge.

We would be delighted if Sen. John F. McCarthy and Assemblyman William T. Bagley of Marin would introduce legislation to have the state highway system assume the cost of maintaining the bridge and relieve toll payers from unjust double taxation.

Assemblyman Foran's expressed hope that the bridge lobbyist will support his legislation is incredible. As the representative of the toll payers, the bridge lobbyist should rightly oppose with all his persuasive powers Assemblyman Foran's effort to gouge the already double-taxed users of the Golden Gate Bridge.

PILOT'S SINGING SOOTHES ANGRY LION

A new method of lion-taming was hastily developed by a pilot who had crashed in rugged California mountains. Stepping from the wreckage of his plane, the flyer was confronted by an angry mountain lion.

On an impulse, the frightened man called out, "Shalom" (the Hebrew word for peace and good-will). To his surprise, the lion calmed down a bit. Then he began to sing—gauging each song's effect by the way the animal's tail twitched.

After some success with French and German songs, and noticeable irritation when he tried "Rock 'n' Roll," the pilot tried Hebrew songs. "It seemed as though a smile ran over his face," he commented later.

Help arrived just as the appreciative lion began to tire of the impromptu concert.

Don't wait until you are in a tight spot to begin promoting peace among persons who are hostile. You may be met with indifference, rebuffs or open opposition. But your imitation of the Prince of Peace will bring an eventual share in His eternal joy.

"Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called the sons of God."

State Is Attempting To Touch Timber Cutting For Tax Money

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) Not all of the state's problems are centered around the 1967-68 budget, but most of them appear to center around raising of tax money for California's government, and its counties, cities and special districts.

One of the problems being resolved by the state Board of Equalization concerns assessment of timber cutting and grazing rights on public lands. This is a problem of not much consequence to the more urban counties of the state, but vital to the areas containing great areas of federally-owned lands.

THE BOARD proposed a rule, which in effect was a directive to assessors to assess timber cutting and grazing rights on federal land. The rule said: "The possession of, claim to, or right to the possession of publicly owned land for the purpose of cutting and taking standing timber on the land is a taxable possessory interest.

"The possession of, claim to, or right to the possession of publicly owned land for grazing livestock or raising forage is a taxable possessory interest."

HISTORICALLY, counties have not taxed private individuals or firms contracting with the government to remove timber from public land. But as population grows, and the demand for more tax money increases along with the growth, this procedure was discovered as another method of adding gold to the county coffers, to the extent of about a half a million a year in the various counties affected.

At a hearing on the proposed rule, the board ran into a wave of opposition. One board aide said there hadn't been so many people at a board hearing since the old days when liquor cases were heard.

IT WAS POINTED out to the board the counties involved could lose more than six million a year if it ordered taxing of the timber on public lands, as the federal government pays that amount to the counties in lieu of taxes.

Senators, assemblymen, and citizens, as well as timber interests, were solid in opposition to the proposal to disturb the established procedure of keeping timber and grazing lands with profitable produce from coming under the county assessments.

What the eventual disposition of the matter will be remains to be seen, but the fact remains the board ran into a buzz-saw in its attempt to equalize.

THERE IS NO argument that owners of private lands are taxed on certain possessory interest holdings, such as timber, forage, trees, vines and crops produced off their lands, with some exemptions to allow the growing material time to produce.

Thus, the individual contracting with the government to harvest a crop of timber located on land which might be adjacent to the private stand, is not concerned with taxable possessory interest. Government allocations in lieu of taxes on the land, which means that everybody contributes, make up the contractor's obligation to the county.

The proposal is an indication of the present trend in taxation, which is to levy on everything that possibly can be touched for taxes.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

U.S. Should Get Out Of Vietnam

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In his Feb. 7 column Roscoe Drummond proceeds to knock down the criticisms aimed at our military conduct of the war in Vietnam — criticisms about our ability to succeed. He only briefly touches on the important aspect of the war, i.e. the political situation. He points out that not only did the Vietnamese vote in their last election, but the elected Assembly has not been kept from functioning, as his so called cynics had prophesied would happen.

If the truth were known, the elections he refers to were rigged by the military junta and no doubt with the aid of our CIA. In one province where 80 per cent of those registered did vote a voting official told a reporter he doubted that over 20 per cent of the villagers knew what they were doing. (Washington Post, Sept. 12, 1966) The Saigon press was censored throughout the election period, a fact which makes any reference to free or fair elections highly questionable.

In regard to the functioning of the elected Assembly, it must be generally known that the assassination of Tran Van Van was an attempt by the military junta to control, if not impede, the work of this body . . . Dr. Phang Quang Dan narrowly escaped an attempt on his life. Dr. Dan is a well known fighter against dictatorship and a candidate for the presidency. This is just another case of intimidation against the Assembly.

The whole duration of U.S. military presence in Vietnam has only made for trouble and increasing corruptions in that country . . . Our strafers, bulldozers and chemicals have laid waste acres of once arable and productive land and made thousands of Vietnamese peasants homeless.

When one looks at the whole picture, the U.S. has absolutely no justification for staying in Vietnam . . . The U.S. does not belong in Vietnam and has no moral basis for negotiating any status for itself. Any negotiations should be solely among Vietnamese. The U.S. should unconditionally and immediately withdraw.

Dumke Should Take Kerr Note

Editor, Independent-Journal:

At the risk of beating a dead dog, I must have my say about the U.C. fiasco.

Governor Reagan was elected largely because of his promise of reform and economy. His call for a 10 per cent cut in spending to avoid a further deficit was no more than President Eisenhower asked when he assumed office. I find it hard to understand the outcry it has aroused.

Clark Kerr met the request for fiscal responsibility with a suspension of all new student registrations, an obvious and deliberate attempt to discredit the new administration's economic policy. Then he asked the Board of Regents for a vote of confidence. That he was fired instead is hardly surprising. The attempts to attribute his dismissal to political maneuvering by the governor are not supported by the evidence. Eleven of the 14 Regents who voted to drop him were appointed by previous governors.

Dr. Kerr is deservedly the recipient of academic laurels, but as an administrator he left much to be desired. The U.C. budget increased two and one-half times during his period in office. His reaction to a request for economy at a time when the State's fiscal position is shaky was uncalled for, politically motivated and—something I find uncommonly prevalent in the academic community—totally unrealistic. It occurs to me that Glenn Dumke would do well to reconsider his recent position, with an eye to compromise, if nothing else, or the state colleges may find themselves in the same position.

Council Hurts Charter Plans

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Last year, through a series of articles dealing with San Rafael's long outdated charter, the Independent-Journal recognized a problem which has been of increasing concern to the citizens of San Rafael. There is little dispute that this charter written in 1911 for a population of 5,000 is outdated and inadequate for today's population of over 31,000. It was the recognition of this problem and the urging of the San Rafael mayor which prompted the San Rafael City Council to appoint a charter revision committee this year.

This committee, consisting of Gerald Percell, Leon E. Sigard, John D. LaNoue, Thomas P. Boyd and Roy M. Michael, performed in a conscientious and thorough manner. They held many meetings in which they thrashed out complicated and often controversial problems. The League of Women Voters of Central Marin would like to commend these gentlemen for their contribution of time and effort.

The charter revision committee's study culminated in a series of recommendations that would provide for a more efficient government. The City Council rejected many of these recommendations.

During the past year members of the League of Women Voters of Central Marin have been examining the San Rafael city charter and have arrived at some of the same conclusions and recommendations as the charter revision committee.

We regret that the City Council did not choose to approve more of the provisions recommended by their appointed revision committee. Even if the voters approve the few charter revisions which will appear on the ballot, this will be only a small step toward bringing San Rafael's charter up-to-date. For the Well-being of San Rafael, isn't this another case of "too little, too late"?

Reagan's Holiday Plan—Good Idea

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Although I go along with that old saying "You can't make a silk purse out of a sow's ear", I go along with Reagan concerning state employee's holidays, that is, in part.

Why should they enjoy Columbus Day, Election Day and Lincoln's Birthday with pay when John Q. Public works?

In my opinion a private employee is required to put out more effort in a comparable job, equal pay, than a state worker. So why the extra holidays with pay?

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

PAT BUTTRAM, featured on TV's "Green Acres," points out that television is "the only profession where you can be discovered, starred, and forgotten all in one season."

Poking fun at a dinner honoring Milton Berle, Buttram remarked, "Miltie recently made a big switch from comedy to drama. Unfortunately it happened while he was still doing comedy." "In Hollywood," concluded the sharp-tongued Mr. Buttram that evening, "if you need symapthy, love, friendship, or money all you have to do is look in the Yellow Pages — under 'Pool Halls.'"

Buttram has his troubles costarring with Eva Gabor in "Green Acres." He complains, "I keep looking at her lines and forget my own."

THE BRIDGE OF SIGNS:

Outside a detective agency: "Pry now; pay later."

Near a psychiatrist's couch: "Put a tiger in your think."

In a St. Paul bar: "Martini drinkers: We are not responsible for your hats, coats, umbrellas, or olives."

At a roadside antique shop: "If you don't know what you want, we've got it!"

When Hanoi's Ready To Talk, Long Painful Agenda Is Ahead

WASHINGTON—When Hanoi gets ready to negotiate the Vietnam war, it will almost certainly be a long, slow, painful and uncertain process.

The best evidence is what happened in Korea. It took hundreds of negotiating sessions over nearly two years; the Communists kept up the fighting during the talks and in the end there was no peace settlement, just a truce to be supervised by an international control commission which neither controlled nor supervised.

RIGHT NOW, Hanoi is still seeking to extract an extra dividend for being willing even to consider negotiation — an end to the bombing of North Vietnam. This is standard Communist negotiating tactics: if they are going to do something both sides are willing to do, the Communists demand a price for it.

I think we have had too much experience to make this mistake. A year ago the suggestion was that, if the U.S. would provide a long pause in the bombing, Hanoi could then accept negotiation without loss of face.

We paused for 37 days during which the Communists spurned negotiation and used the time to move arms and troops across the border more easily.

Now Hanoi sugegsts that, if the U.S. will permanently and unconditionally end the bombing of North Vietnam, peace talks "could" take place. There is no assurance that talks would take place, and this leaves it open for Hanoi to demand further pre-conditions for being willing to negotiate.

YOU CAN THEORIZE all you want about whether the bombing is accomplishing as much as we hoped or whether it is psychologically unwise, but in the end you have to answer this question: When ammunition trucks are moving down toward the South Vietnamese border, do you try to stop them where they are, or wait for the bullets to be fired against U.S. troops who will then be stopping them another way?

North Vietnam can bring about an end to the bombing any time it wants—but not for nothing. It can end the bombing by accepting a cease-fire. It can end the bombing by a reciprocal de-escalation or by agreeing to peace talks and stopping the infiltration.

NEGOTIATION IS in the atmosphere and it may not be long before talks begin one way or another.

There is new evidence that the bombing is cutting down the flow of North Vietnamese troops across the frontiers. The chaos in Red China can hardly fail to reduce Peking's military aid and its ability to deter Hanoi from talking peace.

But I think the greatest spur to negotiation, as far as Hanoi is concerned, is the speed with which the South Vietnamese constituent assembly has drafted the new constitution and the prospect that a civilian government will take over from the military in elections this summer.

If the Viet Cong, which want to govern South Vietnam without elections, are to have any chance of negotiating themselves into a coalition government—a condition which would be perilous to the freedom and independence of South Vietnam and ought to be rejected — they would have to begin negotiations very soon.

BASED ON ALL past experience, it is a safe assumption that when the Communists believe it is in their interest to talk peace, they'll talk — and one-sided cessation of the war will have nothing to do with it.

What is at stake in all this? Something very vital and very promising. If aggression fails in South Vietnam, I believe that the Communist powers will be very near to realizing that "wars of liberation" will have to be abandoned if they really want peaceful co-existence with the West. And the Sino-Soviet split makes Soviet peaceful co-existence with the West more inviting for Moscow.

Hoosier Senator Blasts Debt Plan

By ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — The Johnson Administration is resorting to "government by crisis" for the "scandalous" purpose of secreting from Congress and the American people fiscal and budget juggling and misrepresentation running into the billions.

This is the scathing challenge hurled by Sen. Vance Hartke, of Indiana, influential Democratic member of the Finance Committee as it prepares to consider the President's urgent request for a so-called temporary $6 billion increase in the national debt limit to $336 billion.

The emergency proposal was indignantly characterized by Hartke as leveling a "gun at the head of Congress" with the unfounded claim that failure to approve it would immediately shut off Social Security, veteran pensions and other such payments.

"THIS IS NOTHING more than government by crisis," asserted Hartke. "As a member of the President's party, I resent the shocking tactic of demanding an increase in the debt ceiling on an 'either-or' basis. In the name of the grievously burdened American taxtruth?"

In his bare-knuckle blast, Hartke made three jarring accusations: The Budget Bureau's contention that foreign military aid is "substantially reduced" in the budget the President recently submitted to Congress is phony. More than $300 million in such contemplated expenditures have been hidden in the defense budget and labeled secret."

LAST YEAR, the cost of the Vietnam war was under-estimated by from $10 to 20 billion —a clearcut instance of "either monumental stupidity or deliberate deception."

The foreign military aid funds concealed in the defense budget are destined for Thailand, Laos and NATO, Hartke declared, and total an estimated $321 billion.

"On the surface," he said, "foreign military aid appears to be reduced from $917 million to $596 million for the fiscal year starting July 1. However, funds for Thailand, Laos and NATO have been removed and marked secret. How many hundreds of millions of dallars are being concealed in this manner is a matter of conjecture."

ALSO DRAWING HARTKE'S caustic condemnation is Treasury Secretary Henry Fowler's statement that Congress' refusal to boost the national debt limit to $336 billion would be "an irresponsible act of management." Hartke vehemently branded this as "insufferable arrogance."

"I consider it insufferable arrogance to label Congress 'irresponsible' if it does not jump to bail out the financial jugglers," said the Indianan. "Mr. Fowler is an honest man, but I wonder if the Administration is being honest with him. We are financially greatly overextended in Vietnam, but the administration will not tell us how much."

10 YEARS AGO

Tamalpais High School District trustees voted to build a new swimming pool to replace the pool at Tamalpais High School, which was declared unsafe.

Marin County Planning Commission recommended rezoning a 12-acre site between Novato and Black Point to permit construction of a drive-in theater.

Tree Planting Projects Sure Sign Spring Around The Corner

ONE OF THE most promising sights in North Marin in recent weeks is that of the crews from the State Division of Highways planting the trees on the Highway 37 interchange.

This was a project proposed by the Novato City Council and fought for for months before the promise of planting the trees was made by the highway department.

The wheels of the Division of Highways turn mighty slowly, but eventually, if enough pressure is put on them, they do turn. So after all that work by the Novato City Council, the trees are being planted. It is just a shame that the recent torrential rains had to push some of them over. We hope that they will be replanted before the growing season gets too far along.

ANOTHER PIECE of landscaping which should be about ready to blossom forth is that of the northwest corner of Highway 101 and Grant Avenue. The city public works department has been planning it. The Novato firemen are standing by ready to do the work if needed and the Novato Garden Club and others have been ready to pitch in with whatever help they can offer.

This little project ought to get under way before the growing season is too far advanced. This is the best planting time of the year.

Another job which the city will have to do one of these days following the bad storms is to straighten the liquid ambar trees along Grant Avenue. Some of them were bent over during the storm and still are not firmly rooted and large enough to straighten themselves.

THE BOY SCOUTS of Troop 200 have taken on a civic project worth mentioning. They are planting the trees from the Novato Civic Foundation's nursery around Stafford Lake.

Now, when it becomes a park, the trees will already be there according to the plans made beforehand, and the park will have a year or two headstart on its landscaping.

The scouts have pledged to keep the trees watered during the dry season.

The scouts and Novato Civic Foundation both can be proud of this civic endeavor for beautification.

THERE IS a "No U Turn" sign in front of Warden's Liquor Store at Grant Avenue and Machin Avenue that should be moved a couple of feet for parking safety.

If a person parks a car and comes too close to the white line, the front of his car hits the sign before his wheels are at the curb. We saw Postmaster Harry Overly smash the front of his car on it the other day as he was coasting in to the parking spot. A little moving of the sign would eliminate this hazard from the street.

ANOTHER LITTLE project that got bogged down somewhere in the administration of it comes to our attention. That is the annexation of the Loma Verde School to the City of Novato.

Although Loma Verde itself rejected annexation to the city, the rear of the school does touch land which is inside the city limits, so it is eligible to be annexed.

The Novato Unified School District board voted to have the school annexed to the city. That would make all city schools within the city limits and therefore under the protection of the Novato Police Department. As it is now, the Loma Verde School comes under the Marin County Sheriff's protection.

SOMEWHERE the request of the school board has never been processed, and it is well over a year since it was made. We don't know whether the request ever reached the city staff or not, but it has not come up before the city council for approval, nor been processed by the Local Agency Formation Commission.

LBJ Receives Valentine Gift

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six-year-old Vicky Solomonson brought along a valentine — and a lot of kisses — when she went to see the President.

Vicky, a mentally retarded granddaughter of vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, visited the White House yesterday.

The blonde youngster gave President Johnson a valentine gift of ginger cookies for his efforts on behalf of the handicapped.

At her grandfather's urging, she also gave the President numerous kisses. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Solomonson of Burnsville, Minn.

So-Called Present Academic Freedoms Often Lot Of Hooey

IT FIGURES. I said it was high time Clark Kerr, the progressive head of the University of California, got his walking papers, and I praised Gov. Ronald Reagan for facing up to reality and asking that students pay part of their U.C. tuition.

There followed, as the night the day, a spate of letters calling me fanatically anti-intellectual, consumed with hate against the academy. The proposed fees, I am warned, will make dropouts out of thousands of potential Shakespeares, Einsteins and Platos; while all our professors will flee the state for more enlightened areas.

(Not that I know whither this mass migration will go. A researcher tells me there are only four higher learning institutions which do not charge: Idaho College and Idaho U.; Connecticut U.; and the City College of New York. Allow for some error, and things will still be crowded.)

I SUPPOSE IT would only worsen matters to say some of my best friends were teachers. That is the conventional opening disclaimer of the bigot before launching into a genocidal attack on a particular group.

Nevertheless, it happens to be true. Between the ages of 6 and 21, I was up to my knees in teachers and on good terms with most. I suppose they were, in liberal terminology, Uncle Toms, for they kept their place—and certainly made us kids keep ours.

My fondest memories are, naturally, of a dozen college profs whom we still reminisce about at reunions. But my affection goes back even to some who taught me the Three R's.

POP STEVENS taught arithmetic and made us learn our tables by rote, so that even now I can instantaneously recite the squares of numbers from 1 to 27. If LBJ had studied under Pop, he could not have been guilty of the mathematical inaccuracies in the figures of his latest budget.

And there was Mr. Duke, who taught grammar—and I mean taught it. Call him prudish if you will but any youngster caught saying "between you and I" had to, metaphorically, wash his mouth with soap and listen to a sermon on the difference between the nominative and the objective case. Mr. Duke made no allowance, as is done now, for the fact that you were underprivileged and came from a home where Italian or Yiddish was spoken —in his class you spoke English and spoke it correctly.

IN HIGH SCHOOL, there was Doc Cozensa, who taught Latin —and had a crafty way of doing it. Your daily reading was from Caesar and Cicero, but that did you little good on the exam, where you had to translate from Latin authors you'd never studied. That was the only way, Doc insisted, of determining how much of the language you had really learned.

Now I don't suppose any of the teachers who still hold a warm spot in my heart could ever have made the executive board of the American Association of University Professors, which is ready to issue a liberal statement on any situation at the drop of a hat—as in the Kerr matter.

BUT THEY DID their job in those innocent days and did it well. We came to learn and they came, full of love for their individual subject, to impart some knowledge of it to us and, hopefully, inspire us to seek more. It would never have occurred to them to use their classrooms as soapboxes from which to harrangue us about their political views.

Oh, don't get me wrong—I realize the new ways are infinitely better, now that the first thing a kid learns, no matter what the course, is that government owes him a living. Makes for better citizens.

There was this fellow called Abe Lincoln, born in a log-cabin ghetto; had to walk five miles to school—not even a bus; became a dropout and had to do stoop labor for a living; studied law in his spare time at night, because he could not afford to go to college, which is the birthright of every American. Isn't that what we're fighting for?

No, he never amounted to much. How could he? You expect him to do it by himself?

Moral, Spiritual Discussion Set

Are moral and spiritual values taught in public schools?

This is one of the questions to be posed tomorrow at 8 p.m. at a panel discussion sponsored by the Women of St. Augustine's Episcopal Mission in Fairfax in the Fairfax Community Church on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Taking part in the public discussion will be Mrs. Miriam Droge, a teacher at Ross School; Rev. Angus Dunn Jr., chaplain at San Rafael Military Academy, and a member of the lay board of St. Rita's Catholic Church, Fairfax.

Meeting Reset

Marin County Fire Chiefs Association will meet tomorrow at 9:30 a.m. in Ross Fire Station instead of Feb. 22 because of Washington's Birthday, reported association secretary Carl O. Heynen Jr.
